Holiday in London

LONDON (CP) — There was a holiday spirit in London today as the capital observed Wednesday, the BBC said tonight. The holiday, which was not kept last year, applied to all but essential war industries.

"The shops and banks closed and holiday crowds lined up outside cinemas and theatres," the BBC said. "Museums and zoos had plenty of visitors."

Not Named Yet

OTTAWA (CP) — W. C. Woodward of Vancouver, executive assistant to Munitions Minister Howe, returned to Ottawa over the week-end and his arrival caused a renewal of reports he will be named Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. It was learned, however, his appointment has not yet been before the cabinet.

Province Buys $1,000,000

All Victoria went into the front line of battle today—and by noon had pledged $500,000 of $3,400,000 to the Victory Loan of $600,000,000.

By this evening the giant thermometer atop the Douglas Street marquee of Spencer's is expected to register $1,000,000.

Premier Pattullo, speaking publicly at noon, announced the province of British Columbia had purchased a $1,000,000 bond. This, however, will not be credited to the Victoria quota, but will be checked up on a special list, covering all of British Columbia.

J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Victoria division, early this morning made application on behalf of David Spencer Limited, Victoria and Vancouver, for a $300,000 bond, which also goes to the special list.

Citizens of the British Empire's farthest west city proceeded quietly and efficiently to provide the tools of war, so that victory over Hitler and his gang may be speedy and thorough.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe last night officially opened the loan with radio speeches. This morning 120 citizen salesmen went into action in Victoria.

In all parts of the city these men walked up garden paths, climbed steps, rang doorbells. Housewives left their Monday morning washing; others, brooms in hands, went to front doors and talked to the salesmen. Everywhere there was co-operation. Mere men reported they never suspected Victoria had so many charming and agreeable housewives.

Store clerks, bus drivers, stenographers, waitresses, street car operators, civil servants—everyone, in fact, will be canvassed and asked to do his or her part. But many people are not waiting to be asked. They are going to banks and have been for the last week.

When the books opened this morning, the first $500,000 in applications had already been received. Victoria's quota is $5,400,000.

SANDBAGS PLANNED

Flags flew from public buildings today. Plans were made to sandbag entrances to several buildings. A big electric lighted picture of Winston Churchill, cigar in mouth, will rise over the Bank of Montreal building. People buying bonds—and that means just about everyone—will wear miniature glass and metal torches in their lapels.

Threatens Strike Here

James Robertson, Island Labor Council organizer, announced today that plans are being made to hold a strike in Victoria on Wednesday of members of the National Drivers' Union, Local No. 1, unless terms of a collective bargaining ultimatum sent the employers are complied with by that time.

The strike would affect the Blue Line bus service on the Oak Bay and Haultain Street routes. Other employers receiving ultimata are Quarter Cab, C. and C. Island Cab, Safety Cab, Diamond Taxi.

Syria Next Battlefield, Quick British Move

Canadian Press

The Associated Press said in a dispatch that with qualified observers conceding Britain's loss of the Mediterranean as a life-line shipping link, belief was voiced in London tonight that she is prepared to take swift action in Syria, both to block any substantial German foothold and to bolster Turkey's stand.

Authoritative quarters expressed confidence Turkey would never yield either to Axis threats or blandishments—she is Britain's ally—but it was acknowledged Britain was determined to get a head start in any scramble for Syria.

This, it was said, would help to stiffen Turkey's attitude. Bordered on the European side by German-occupied Greece and Bulgaria, Turkey is a pathway to the oil fields of Iraq and the Suez Canal.

Qualified observers agreed Hitler already was in a position to bring extreme pressure on Turkey. By occupation of Crete and the Aegean islands the Axis appeared to have isolated the Dardanelles from any hope of British fleet assistance.

In addition, the success in Crete might be used by Hitler to argue the ease with which his troops might attack along the whole western end of Turkey.

Nazi Motor Units In Northern Syria

While this discussion was in progress a dispatch from Ankara said it had been learned on high authority there that German motorized infantry had been landed by coastal freighters at the Syrian port of Latakia May 29.

Saboteurs Blamed For Bomber Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Four fliers apparently perished today in the crash of a British Liberator bomber into San Diego Bay which a Consolidated Aircraft spokesman said had "evidences of sabotage."

Disaster overtook the $250,000 four-motored machine shortly after it had taken off from Lindbergh Field.

The 25-ton craft was camouflaged and ready for delivery to Great Britain.

William B. Wheatley, 39, Chester, N.Y., chief test pilot for the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, apparently was at the controls. The United States navy took over the rescue operations,

Conscription Here Urged By Noon

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadians generally are not showing anything like the zeal in their war effort that animates the people of India, in the opinion of Malik Sir Firozkhan Noon, High Commissioner for India in London since 1936.

The Commissioner, here today en route to England, said he believed Canada should have conscription of manpower immediately and should send more men to Britain.

"I believe the fate of the war will be decided in another four months," he said. "That is why there should be more action right now. Later might be too late."

Japanese Bombs Hit Embassy at Chungking

CHUNGKING (AP)—Six bombs crashed into the compound of the British embassy here today, damaging buildings, when 27 Japanese planes attacked the Chinese capital for the second day in succession.

Three bombs made craters around the residence of the ambassador, Sir Arthur Blackburn, and considerable damage was done to the interior.

Blasters fell and windows were cracked in the ambassador's offices, while servants' quarters were partly wrecked. The whole compound was littered with debris from surrounding buildings inhabited by Chinese.

None of the embassy staff were hurt in the shelling. The embassy was in the line of a path of bombs laid across the downtown business centre.

Sales Control For Wheat in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Growers of wheat joined producers of cotton and tobacco today in granting the United States Agriculture Department authority to control the sales of their crops this year.

In a nation-wide referendum Saturday, wheat farmers voted decisively for a departmental proposal to invoke the rigid marketing quota provisions of the 1938 Farm Act to keep surplus production of this year's grain crop off the market until it might be needed.

Quotas on cotton and tobacco were approved in referenda held last winter.

Virtually complete returns from the wheat referendum gave 397,559 votes for and 36,223 against quotas. This was slightly more than 80 per cent or far in excess of the necessary two-thirds.

Gift of Milk

LONDON (CP)—Forty-eight tins of evaporated milk were found in each of three cases of machine tools from the United States received by the Ministry of Supply and Ordnance.

Attached to each case was this typewritten slip:

"Employees of the Jones Machine Tool Works at Cincinnati send this box to employees where this machine is sent."

"The milk is intended for your children and has been sent without the knowledge of the purchasers of these tools or any agent connected with same."

1 Dead, 2 Missing In Coast Wreck

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, B.C. (CP)—One man perished, two others are missing and three others recounted their escape through huge waves on a makeshift raft after the Armour Salvage Company's service boat Bentnick was wrecked Sunday on the treacherous Sardonian Rocks off Graham Island.

British radio advices reaching here said one body had been recovered from the scene of the wreck, but it was not identified. Reported missing after the Bentnick piled on the rocks at the mouth of the T-lell River on the east coast of Graham Island in a Sunday night gale were:

Peter Lorenzen, well-known contractor and building inspector of Prince Rupert; Frank McCrae, engineer of the E. J. Ryan Construction Company, and John Barker, a member of the Bentnick's crew.

Those who escaped the wreck and reached safety at T-lell after the Bentnick's lifeboats were smashed included Capt. Joseph Couture, the service vessel; A. E. Richards, a superintendent of the Ryan Construction Company, and one other unidentified man.

British radio advices reaching here said the Bentnick piled on the Sardonian Rocks in a southeast gale Sunday morning. Huge waves smashed the little vessel's lifeboat and washed it away.

The crew, with the Bentnick pounding to pieces under them, made a makeshift raft from wreckage and doors. Three made the safety of T-lell.

The Bentnick sent a distress call when she piled on the rocks, but apparently misjudged her position. Rescue craft and an airplane from the Alliford Bay station sped to the position given but were unable to locate the wreck.

Those who drifted ashore on their makeshift raft north of T-lell were taken to Charlotte hospital and their condition is reported good today.

The Bentnick is a 60-foot vessel of 38 tons, registered in Vancouver. She was built in Hoquiam, Wash., in 1912.

British Patrol Iraq

HELPED CRUSH IRAQI REVOLT—Swift British mechanized units composed of cars like these shown on a sandy stretch contributed much to the rout of Rashid Ali's forces.

Canadian and Associated Press

Iraq, the land of oil, was at peace today under British patrol, but there still were conflicting reports as to the whereabouts of six-year-old King Feisal. First he had been reported carried off to neighboring Iran (Persia) by Rashid Ali. Later dispatches from Cairo said he was safe in the Iraq capital.

A British radio report heard last night declared, however, that "at present the authorities in Baghdad have no news of the whereabouts of the boy king" although he had been "presumed" to be safe at Baghdad.

The Iraq regent, Emir Abdul Ilah, who left the country after his government had been overthrown by Rashid Ali on April 4, entered Baghdad Sunday.

The Mosul oil fields in the north, which provide oil for the Mediterranean fleet, were said to be "intact." British sources said further that the governor of Mosul "was opposed to Rashid Ali's gang from the beginning" of the short-lived war.

TO RESTORE PIPELINE

However, an authoritative source in London said today the oil pipeline flow from the northern Iraq fields to the British base at Haifa still was cut off and expressed belief in some German sources remained in the petroleum-producing region around Kirkuk.

Before Iraq rebel forces laid down their arms in the armistice yesterday, it was said there had been "a lot of Germans in the Mosul area." The belief was expressed these probably had moved on to Kirkuk, 100 miles south-east.

A Middle East command communiqué said the situation in Baghdad itself "remains quiet following our acceptance of the armistice which was asked for by the committee set up to administer Baghdad after the flight of Rashid Ali and his gang."

Under the armistice the British authorities pledged to "abstain from any infringement on Iraq independence and to afford His Royal Highness, the Regent, every assistance in re-establishing a legal government, and to assist the Iraq nation to resume a normal and prosperous existence."

The armistice also provided for return of Iraq troops to their peacetime pursuits, release of British prisoners of war and internment by the Iraqis of Italian and German prisoners. Reports here said about 500 Axis men were captured.

Iraqi prisoners taken by the British forces will be handed over to Abdul Ilah.

A Berlin propaganda broadcast heard in London said the exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, who attempted to fan a Moslem uprising against Britain during the struggle with Iraq, had arrived at Mosul to "reorganize Iraq resistance to the British."

Allies' Losses On Island 15,000

15,000 Empire Troops From Crete Guard Suez

Canadian and Associated Press

A quick German attempt to invade Britain's easternmost Mediterranean island stronghold of Cyprus and demands for Turkey either to join the Axis pact or permit the passage of Nazi armored divisions were predicted today by British military sources as they counted the cost of their 12-day defence of Crete.

Slightly more than 15,000 Empire forces were declared officially Sunday to have withdrawn from the Greek island of Crete to Egypt to fight again in the steadily-unfolding battle for the Suez Canal.

British forces on the island were estimated at more than 30,000. The Nazis claimed to have captured 13,000 men—including Greeks. The British War Office acknowledged "severe" losses.

In addition, the fight to stem the air-borne invasion is admitted—against heavy Axis claims—to have cost Britain three cruisers, four destroyers, and damage to two battleships and several other warships.

On her side of the ledger, Britain, Britain marked down victory in oil-rich Iraq, under an armistice effective yesterday morning, one day less than a month after Regent Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani called on the Nazis for aid and pitted his rebels against the British.

Key Expects Early Demands

British sources expressed the view Turkey is in the position Yugoslavia was when the Nazis moved into Bulgaria—that she has been partly encircled, finds herself within quick striking range of the Germans, and may face a demand to join with Rome and Berlin to let the Nazis through to new battlegrounds to the southeast.

Lack of adequate air support was given by the War Office as a basic reason for the British reverse in Crete.

"It became clear," the War Office statement said, "that our naval and military forces could not be expected to operate indefinitely in and near Crete without more air support than could be provided from our air bases in Africa."

Naval, Air Forces Joined in Action

Partly to the work of the navy in the bomb-splattered waters and partly to what support the Royal Air Force could give from distant bases, as attributed the success in evacuating what was believed to be roughly half of the Empire forces on Crete.

Throughout the week-end the R.A.F. stayed in the fight, smashing in Nazi planes on parachute-captured airdromes of Crete and battling with German and Italian bombers along the south coast of the island.

Dispatches from Cairo credited British fliers with downing five German Junkers planes and two Italian bombers Saturday in raging air battles south of the island. Britain, meanwhile, put acting Air Marshal A. W. Tedder in charge as commander-in-chief of the R.A.F. Middle East Command, succeeding his immediate superior, Air Chief Marshal Arthur Longmore, who became R.A.F. inspector general.

Medicines, Supplies Dropped to British

In Cairo today R.A.F. headquarters said British bombers have been dropping medical supplies and food to isolated bodies of troops left on Crete after the major withdrawal, the Royal Air Force announced today.

The communiqué gave no further details on the troops remaining on the Greek island.

Large formations of the R.A.F. as well as the South African Air Force spent yesterday patrolling the Mediterranean in protection of "His Majesty's ships and merchant vessels" removing troops from Crete, the communiqué said.

"The enemy aircraft were repeatedly intercepted and many were attacked," it added.

On similar patrols Saturday, according to the R.A.F., nine Axis planes were shot down.

Nazis Pushed Out of Planes

An Australian among the tired Imperial troops landing in Egypt from Crete said the planes that dropped the Nazi troops were flying very low and added that "believe me, they were not jumping; They were being pushed or kicked out by a big bloke in that plane for that purpose."

The soldiers confirmed reports that the Germans landed howitzers and small vehicles by air.

The parachutists acted ruthlessly wherever they got control, British troops said.

The Germans dropped leaflets warning the civilian population that the death penalty would be imposed on civilians joining in the defence of their island.

At the time the withdrawal was ordered, the soldier estimated the Germans had succeeded in landing about 30,000 troops.

In Berlin the German high command said today "the battle for Crete is ended."

The last resistance was smashed, the communiqué asserted, when German forces occupied the harbor of Sfakion, on the south coast toward the western end of the island.

To reach Sfakion, it said, Nazi mountain forces had to subdue last-ditch British fighters in the mountains north of the city and 3,000 prisoners were taken there.

These were in addition to about 10,000 Britons and Greeks claimed yesterday by the high command as captured in the fierce 12-day campaign.

In Britain the press generally said that "undoubtedly there will be some questioning of the conduct of this brief miniature campaign."

The London Evening Standard said "a grievous miscalculation" had been made and an Evening News editorial said the "brutal truth is we were driven out of Crete by a well-planned and determined attack on lines which found us with our minds still dwelling on methods of the last war, inadequately prepared."

"We were prepared for the obvious. The improbable happened. We were not prepared for that and the lack of foresight brought defeat."

The London Daily Telegraph said that "undoubtedly there will be some questioning of the conduct of this brief miniature campaign."

Weygand Sees Petain

VICHY (AP)—General Maxime Weygand arrived here unexpectedly today by special plane from his command in north Africa to confer with Chief of State Marshal Petain.

The French military commander in north Africa rushed from the Vichy airport to Petain's headquarters at the Perc Hotel.

After a wait of only a few minutes in an anteroom, he was greeted by General Laure, the marshal's chief personal aide, and ushered at once into Petain's private office.

Hitler, Mussolini Meet at Brenner

BERLIN (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini met at the Brenner Pass today and conferred for several hours on the political situation, it was announced here.

The announcement of the meeting, issued simultaneously in Rome, said German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Ciano attended and that the deliberations ended in "complete agreement on points of view."

Participating in the five-hour conference also were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Gen. Ugo Cavallero, chief of the Italian general staff.

Thus, the new military situation could have been discussed with expert opinion close at hand.

This marked the sixth time Hitler and Mussolini have met since the war began. Each has signalled the beginning or end of a major phase of the conflict.

Their most recent meeting, at an undisclosed place, took place last January 20, when southeastern Europe was in political ferment preceding the German attack on Yugoslavia and Greece. They got together for the first of their wartime parleys March 18, 1940, in Mussolini's private railroad car at the Brenner Pass, just before the Germans' campaign in Norway.

When they met again, exactly three months later, the battle of France had ended. Another Brenner Pass meeting ensued October 4, followed quickly by a conference October 28 in Florence. That was the day Italian forces launched their offensive on Greece.

ROME (AP)—Fascist spokesmen said that plans for meeting any move by the United States presumably formed at least part of the conversation between Hitler and Mussolini today.

Observers said the Axis leaders probably were concerned with the prospect of further action by the United States in line with President Roosevelt's program to defend the western hemisphere with the navy, involving French west Africa, the Azores and other Atlantic islands.

The Fascist spokesmen predicted Italian forces would use Crete as a springboard for new attacks by air on British positions in the triangle formed by the Island of Cyprus, the Egyptian port of Alexandria and the Palestine port of Haifa.

But they said greater questions must have brought the two war leaders together and cited, besides United States policy, such major Middle East objectives as the oil fields of Iraq, with the pipeline through Palestine, and French-mandated Syria and the Suez Canal.

Fascists said the Axis forces certainly would not remain idle after the conquest of Crete, and Virginia Gayda, often the editorial spokesman for Fascist policy, wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia that "new developments in the Mediterranean war will be seen soon as a consequence of the new Axis victory."

EDMONTON EAST BY-ELECTION TODAY

EDMONTON (CP)—Despite ideal weather, voting was reported by polls as "quite slow" this forenoon in the balloting to decide the three-cornered contest for the Edmonton East seat in the House of Commons.

The polls opened at 8 a.m., M.S.T., and will close at 6 p.m. Campaign headquarters estimated the result should be known by 8 p.m.

Poll workers said voting would be brisker as the afternoon wore along, but if the advance poll is any criterion, the total vote will be lighter than the slightly more than 20,000 cast in the 1940 general election. Forty-nine voters marked ballots Thursday, Friday and Saturday compared with 113 in 1940.

The three candidates are Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal; Orvis Kennedy, New Democracy-Social Credit, and A. A. MacLeod, "People's Campaign." Mrs. Casselman is the widow of F. C. Casselman whose death caused the by-election.

Pope Against State Interference

Man More Than Mere Slave, Says Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII defended the right and duties of the individual and families against to extensive state interference in a radio broadcast yesterday commemorating the 50th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's social encyclical "rerum novarum."

The Pontiff, speaking in Italian over the Vatican radio, upheld man's right to freedom in his "physical, spiritual, religious and moral movements."

He warned against the "error" of the belief "the scope of man on earth is society."

"Society is not an end in itself," the Holy Father said.

The right and duty to work is considered imposed upon man in the first instance by nature, he said, "not by society as if man were nothing more than a mere slave or official of the community."

It follows, he added, that "the duty and right to organize labor belongs above all to the people immediately interested; employers and workers."

Only when they fail to fulfill their functions should the state intervene, he said.

The Pope defended the church's right to say whether any given social system harmonized with the "unchangeable order of God," and laid down a series of moral principles to govern use of material goods, labor and family.

BASIS OF FAMILY

He defended private property as the basis of the family, giving the father "the healthy liberty he needs to fulfill his duties as head of a family."

The Pontiff called upon the faithful not to be upset by the growing paganism of public life, nor to "be misled by the manufacturers of errors and unhealthy theories."

Shortly before the broadcast the Pope received congratulations from the College of Cardinals on the occasion of his saint day, which fell today.

Although Vatican City has been spared war's horrors thus far, he told the Cardinals, he feels daily and hourly the sufferings of mankind.

The horizon is dark, he said, with the possibility of darker times to come, but "the sun of justice will not cease to shine," he added.

The Pontiff enunciated "principles, concepts and norms," which he said he would like "to share in the future organization of that new order which the world expects and hopes will arise from the seething ferment of the present struggle."

He advocated the opening of "habitable regions and vital spaces now abandoned to wild natural vegetation" to immigrants.

"Thickly inhabited countries will be relieved and their peoples will acquire new friends in foreign countries, and the states which receive the immigrants will acquire industrious citizens," he said.

MAGNA CHARTA

The Pope called the Rerum Novarum encyclical the "Magna Charta of Christian social endeavor" which had worked progress in the lot of workers.

Coming to the war, the Pontiff said its "unforeseen currents may affect our economy and society," and added:

"What problems and what particular undertakings, some perhaps entirely novel in our social life, will be presented to the care of the church at the end of this conflict which set so many peoples against one another it is difficult at the moment to phrase or foresee."

The Pope laid down "moral principles of three fundamental values of social and economic life" which he called "the use of material goods, labor and the family."

He called his own encyclical, "sermone laetitia," directed to the bishops of the United States in which he asserted "goods which were created by God for all men should flow equally to all according to the principles of justice and charity."

"Undoubtedly the natural order

deriving from God demands also private and free reciprocal commerce of goods by interchange and gift as well as the functioning of the state as control over both these institutions.

"But all this remains subordinated to the natural scope of material goods and can not emancipate itself from the first and fundamental right which concedes their use to all men, but it should rather serve to make possible the attainment of this right in conformity with its scope."

NATURAL RIGHTS

The Pontiff said the state, in safeguarding the "inviolable sphere of the right" of the human person, should not have "power so extensive over members of the community" as to "decide on the beginning or ending of human life, to determine at will the manner of his physical, spiritual, religious and moral movements" and to this end "abolish or deprive of the efficiency of his natural rights to material goods."

National economy, the Pope asserted, exist only to assure uninterrupted "material conditions in which the individual life of citizens may fully develop."

"Economic riches of a people do not properly consist in abundance of goods measured according to purely and solely material calculations of their worth, but in the fact that such abundance represents and offers a really effective material basis sufficient for proper personal development of its members."

If people are not called upon to share them they are economically poor in the presence of "the lucky abundance of goods," whereas when there is a just distribution of good "you will see a people, even if it disposes of less goods, making itself economically sound."

He said the state should not "abolish or render impossible" the exercise of such personal rights and duties as "the right to give God his due worship, the right to marry, the right to husband and wife or father and mother to lead a married domestic life, the right to reasonable liberty, in the choice of state, of life and fulfillment of true vocation."

This last the Pope called "a personal right if ever there was one," and a sublime one when resulting in the choice of "priestly and religious vocations."

"In the family, a nation finds the natural and fecund root of its greatness of power."

The Pontiff asked "if today the concept and creation of vital spaces is at the centre of social and political aims, should not one, before all else, think of the vital space of the family and free it of the fetter of conditions which do not permit even to formulate the idea of a homestead of one's own?"

Old Conditions Gone—Coldwell

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, speaking on the air Saturday, said:

In this favored land we are, as yet, untouched by the circumstances and horrors of actual war. We are apt to think of the conflict as something far off and to sit back and applaud the fortitude of the people of London and Bristol and Plymouth, and to express our admiration for the marvelous feats of the airmen and the bravery of our soldiers and the heroism and courage of the men who go down to the sea in ships.

But we must realize that upon us lies the added duty of making this country worthy of this heroism; this courage; this sacrifice.

I have no hesitation in saying that, as a nation, we are not pulling out full weight for the overthrow of the dictatorships. Not because our people don't want to but because, when the war began, we failed as a nation to understand the requirements of the conflict. Now that wasn't unnatural, for most of us had been thinking in terms of peace and progress rather than of war and devastation.

MUST PLAN

As the struggle grows more menacing and grave, we are bound to be driven to plan, completely, our economic activities. But we must not continue our habit of doing too little, too long.

In this 20th month of war we still have idle equipment and idle tools and idle men and women. It was only last week, after 20 months of war, that we celebrated the completion of the first heavy tank, and it was only last week that the government decided to extend our production of essential steel by using Nova Scotia plants.

And this course, if it continues, is going to endanger not only our own war efforts but that of our Allies as well. We dare not let ourselves be held back by the reactionary interests. This war is being fought for democracy and freedom. That is what alone justifies the enormous sacrifices we shall be called upon to make. But these sacrifices will be made willingly when our people are convinced we are really in earnest about democracy and freedom.

In Great Britain the masses of the people are convinced. They are fighting not for a richer, more powerful imperial Britain, because when the war ends Britain will be infinitely poorer than she has ever been. They are fighting for a Britain where there will be more equality and more comradeship and more social and economic justice.

That is the secret of their marvelous morale. They trust great leaders of the common people.

CHANGES COMING

Here in Canada many people have not yet realized the implications. Some still think that when the fight is over we shall return to the conditions we knew before the war—and that fills them with satisfaction. But this can never be.

We must plan our war effort so that bitterness and discontent will not inhabit the hearts of our workers, our farmers, our fishermen. If not, we invite defeat and jeopardize the peace.

In recent years we have watched the growth of great wealth and greed poverty side by side. Too many people with no property, too few with too much. Security must be made widespread and men and women live as they were intended to do and we must begin now, not in words, but by deeds, to plan for this security when the war ends.

If we do this, we create the morale to enable us to defeat Hitlerism abroad and build democracy at home—for only in this way could we be able gradually to end the stranglehold of private monopoly and to plan our economic resources and our labor so as to produce the tools we so urgently require.

This would introduce an honest approach to equality of sacrifice now and planned security afterwards. It would strengthen the faith of our people in their democratic institutions and in the future of our country.

Fire at Boeing Plant But Work Goes On

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wartime work went on uninterrupted today at the huge Sea Island plant of the Boeing Aircraft Company of Canada Ltd., where yesterday a $75,000, two-alarm fire of unknown cause gutted the company's administration building and for a time threatened the entire newly-constructed factory.

Stanley Burke, president of the Boeing company here, said the blaze, brought under control only after a two-hour fight by firemen and student airmen from a nearby training centre, apparently began on the second story of the frame administration building. He added the cause was not known, but that fire authorities probably would make the usual investigation.

RECORDS SAVED

The president said the administration building probably would be rebuilt, but no definite decision has yet been made. Meanwhile office workers who hurried from the building with some company records when the blaze broke out, will be given space in the main plant of the company, which is to build big PBV flying boats for wartime use when it gets in full production.

Damage to the plane factory building was confined to $5,000 in burned timbers and broken windows as fire-fighting equipment fought its way through traffic-choked roads to the scene eight miles south of here.

AUTOS KEPT AWAY

Police were called out to keep hundreds of motorists from rushing to the fire. At the scene scores of student airmen from the nearby elementary flying training centre No. 8 pitched in to help Vancouver and Richmond municipal firemen fight the flames.

Vancouver's civic airport, one of the largest in Canada and housing thousands of dollars in equipment of various commercial air lines, was not threatened, although it lies just across a road from the Boeing plant. However, some planes were removed from the airport hangars as a precaution.

Mock Air Raid In Vancouver

Vancouver got a taste of what modern war is like in an air raid demonstration at Brockton Point, arranged as part of the recruiting and Victory Loan drives.

Thousands saw high explosives detonated, and anti-aircraft guns going into action as an R.C.A.F. plane roared down over a roped-off area.

Dunce caps were named after a learned Scotch clergyman, Duns Scotus, who lived in the 13th century.

People in the News

'Hold Torch High'

PREMIER JOHN BRACKEN of Manitoba said in Winnipeg. "The road to victory is no flowery path of easy terms." He was speaking at a dedication ceremony of the bronze torch of victory before 10,000 Winnipeggers.

The torch, symbolizing Canada's $600,000,000 Victory Loan campaign, was dedicated by Chief Justice E. A. McPherson of the Manitoba Court of King's Bench. The pledge "to hold the torch high and to march shoulder to shoulder with the United Kingdom and our allies in our righteous cause to victory and enduring peace" was repeated by the spectators.

Premier Bracken said "we are all in the front line," recalled that in the past Manitoba was never found wanting in regard to national service, and in the victory Loan campaign opening "let us work and give... and keep on working and giving."

War Dead Honored

WINSTON CHURCHILL laid a wreath in tribute to American dead in the first Great War at a military cemetery at Brookwood, Surrey, and then deposited a small bouquet of bluebells, lilacs and forget-me-nots at the foot of a cross marking the grave of a Canadian soldier. The soldier was J. C. Cocklin, who served in the last war.

'Hitler Won't Win'

A. J. HUTTON of Spokane, past junior commander of the American Legion, and DR. W. B. BURNETT, Vancouver, were the main speakers at a parade and open-air service which inaugurated Kamloop's Victory Loan campaign.

"Hitler won't win this war," the aviation experts to the contrary," Mr. Hutton said. "The United States doesn't propose to invest $7,000,000,000 in a proposition and have it sunk in the middle of the Atlantic," he declared.

Air Balance Changes

British-U.S. Output of Planes Exceeds Nazis'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (CP)—Germany has stopped aircraft production in many plants to retool for new models and at the present time Britain's production, with half the United States' output, exceeds that of the Nazis, Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, said today.

In an address at the annual convention of the National Aeronautic Association, Jouett said that when he made the same statement a month ago it was questioned by persons who believed Germany is producing at a much more rapid rate. United States authorities since have received "additional information that confirms our information," he said.

C.C.F. Ire Aroused

HAROLD WINCH, C.C.F. House Leader in the British Columbia Legislature, said in Kamloops Canada "must prove to Canadians democracy is worth fighting for."

"You can't beat Hitler by sneers and ridicule," he said. "You can't beat the most efficient organization the world has ever seen except by having something that is greater, more scientific, more efficient. That can come by making democracy work."

"The C.C.F. wants to see a real war effort and decries inequality of sacrifice," Mr. Winch continued, asserting that the consumers or workers were paying a disproportionately heavy share of the war burden.

He claimed there was not equality on the basis of ability to pay, that the excess profits tax last year produced $4,000,000 less than the national defence tax, and that the federal finance minister's estimate for the 1941 fiscal year is that indirect taxes will produce $612,000,000 out of a total of $1,069,000,000.

"These taxation increases arouse the ire of the C.C.F.," Mr. Winch said, adding they have meant a 9.53 per cent increase in the cost of living in British Columbia when wages are not rising commensurately.

Mr. Winch criticized a recent speech of S. G. Blaylock, president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Ltd., calling for conscription and higher taxes on medium and low income brackets.

He claimed the smelting company, according to its balance sheet, paid $2.25 in dividends and bonuses on shares worth $5 apiece during 1940.

"With profits like this in wartime," he asked, "is this being fought for profit or principle?" he asked.

A collection taken at the meeting netted $26.74 for the Lord Mayor's fund for relief of bomb sufferers in Britain.

'Must Hang On'

AUSTRALIAN PRIME MINISTER MENZIES, replying to the welcome accorded him on his return from a visit to the Middle East, Britain, Canada and the United States, said in Melbourne the peoples of the Empire must hang on at all costs "until help from the United States, still a mere trickle, becomes a stream and then a torrent."

He said he had every reason to know "we have not yet reached the lowest point in our fortunes," and the Empire must be ready to face "the most critical hour" in its history.

Casualty lists of the Australian Imperial force will be published in July, he said, adding the recruiting needs of the Commonwealth were higher than an early estimate and should reach 8,000 monthly.

Invasion Expected

JOHANNES STEELE, radio commentator, said on his arrival in New York from Europe on the Dixie Clipper "certain members of the British government" expect Great Britain to be invaded in July.

Steele, who spent several weeks in London, said also the Portuguese government, fearing German invasion, has evacuated to the Azores its standing army and some official archives.

Showing the World

LIEUT.-COL. HAROLD MOLSON said in Powell River this was the first time since the start of the war Canada had a chance to show the world where she stands. He was speaking to 3,500 people at a monster rally that opened Powell River's 1941 Victory Loan drive.

The entire world was watching Canada's response to the loan, Lieut.-Col. Molson said, and if Canada reached her objective of $600,000,000 it would be as great a blow to Hitler as a defeat on the battlefield.

Poisoned Ducks

Annually, many ducks are killed by lead poisoning. Mistaking them for gravel, the ducks swallow shotgun pellets from the bottom of marshes.

Severe Loss

CRETE OCCUPIED BY GERMAN FORCES
and used as an airplane and naval base obviously will hamper British air and sea operations against the transport of Axis reinforcements and equipment to Libya from the Greek and Italian mainland. Whether enemy troops in North Africa will attempt to force the issue against Egypt before General Wavell adds new strength to the army of the Nile, both in machines and men, or whether grievous wounds sustained in Crete will delay the Nazi program for the time being, are points which only the progress of events will determine. What this latest British withdrawal from another vitally important strategic and geographical vantage ground has demonstrated beyond peradventure, however, is that without adequate and continued support from the air, ground and water forces in comparatively cramped quarters are virtually at the mercy of the Stuka dive bombers—a weapon on which Hitler seems to be able to draw in almost unlimited quantities when he can use it to the most devastating advantage.

As soon as the one or two indifferent airfields in Crete were rendered useless to the Royal Air Force, interception of airborne reinforcements before their arrival was virtually abandoned; British fighter planes had to be withdrawn. In addition to which, of course, the distance between the island and the nearest British base—more than 300 miles—proved a geographical handicap against which human ingenuity could not compete except in a minor and woefully insufficient degree. The gallant defenders, therefore, were obliged to depend upon their own resources—again wholly inferior in quantity and weight to those of the enemy. That the vanguard of parachutists consisting of at least 1,500 will never see their Fatherland again is of less concern to Adolf Hitler than a shower of rain in an otherwise sunny day at his Berchtesgaden retreat.

Stuka dive-bombers and fighter planes operating from airfields less than 100 miles away obtained command of the air and quickly simplified reinforcement of the Nazi invaders by transport plane and, presumably, by sea. Only by using long-range fighters and craft of the bomber command did the navy obtain sufficient protection to shield the hazardous manoeuvre which enabled 15,000 of General Freyberg's hard-fighting, heroic and sorely-pressed army to reach Egypt. And the price the navy was compelled to pay to live up to its reputation for never letting the army down is not yet revealed; nor have we been told how the far-away-based Royal Air Force men returned again and again to mete out punishment to the invading forces during the last two days of this short and bitter episode.

Important Win

AGAINST THE LOSS OF THE BATTLE of Crete, however, is the highly-significant turn of the tide in Iraq. From a purely military point of view, of course, it was but a passing incident in the more embracing campaign that must unfold before the world is much older. But its satisfactory conclusion, coupled with armistice terms sharply in conflict with those imposed by Hitler and his gang on conquered countries, naturally will have a vitally-important psychological effect on the whole Arab world. Now peace has been restored in the country, a constitutional government friendly to Britain established, the British military situation in the Near East has been improved strategically, while the Islamic mind will place a high value on the political conduct of their friends in London. By no means lost on the calculating Arab outlook was the prompt restoration of Ethiopia to the Emperor Haile Selassie; Iraq's transformation from strife to comparative tranquillity within the short space of a month—despite German intrigue and assistance—furnishes its own immediate commentary. The flight of the rebel Raschid Ali, too, may suggest to all Islam that if Hitler did not entirely miss his first bus to the Middle East, Britain most assuredly caught one which she sent troops to Basra two weeks before the political coup d'état at Baghdad produced the fighting from which the men of Berlin had expected much.

To what extent and how soon the land of young King Feisal will again become a battleground depends on whether military exigencies demand the Nazi machine continue to roll eastward—and, by the same token, on what action Britain takes toward Syria. From now on, moreover, the position of Turkey is one of supreme importance to herself and to Britain and her Allies. If she should succumb to the blandishments of the Axis, with or without pressure from opportunist Stalin, the situation would instantly become critical, as a glance at the map reveals. Not that she will lightly surrender all she has won in the last two decades; but she is exposed to attack on the north from the Black Sea, on the west from the Aegean, and on the south from the Dodecanese. Russia could practically complete her encirclement. These are the dark shadows of events that lie within the realm of military possibility. At the same time, Britain, under the provisions of her treaty with Iraq, now again recognized by the new administration at Baghdad, has gained an important advantage for which she had to fight long and bitterly, with heavy losses, in the last war.

Exchanging Sons

NUMEROUS PUBLIC MEN IN THIS country have argued that the best way to establish and preserve national unity is by a more frequent interchange of view among our own people. Nor can the point be repeated too often. Many eastern Canadians may know little about the Dominion beyond the Great Lakes; thousands of British Columbians would feel they were in a strange land east of Toronto. It ought to be part of our education to know Quebec as well as we know our own province; much to learn is there. Difficulties attendant upon travel to the United States and other countries might suggest a new discovery of Canada by Canadians. This simple process of getting to know one another calls to mind an experiment now being tried in San Francisco—part of a wider plan to bring about a more intimate understanding between the folk of the neighboring Republic and the people of the Latin Americas.

A family resident in the city of the Golden Gate and a Santiago, Chile, family have arranged to exchange sons for a year. Young Fred H. Walters is on his way to Santiago to live with the family of Fernando Contreras. Young Contreras is coming up to the United States to occupy Fred's room in the Walters home. A committee at each end selected the boys and the families as representative. Both are of the just-finished-high-school age. Each is going on with his studies; both families—one Roman Catholic, one Protestant—have agreed not to tamper with the religious or political beliefs of the boys. At the end of the year each will return home with experiences highly valuable to themselves, and with a heightened understanding of each other's lands. This experiment will be interesting to watch. If it works, and it ought to, it might be worth a trial in this country. A Victoria boy to Montreal, for example, in "exchange" for a youth from Canada's eastern metropolis.

Clamoring For Machines

DOWN IN AUSTRALIA ON SATURDAY Premier Menzies spoke out fearlessly about the experiences of British and Imperial troops in Crete and emphasized what realists have been proclaiming ever since the Nazi juggernaut smashed through the Low Countries and France. "Machines are defeating us," says this Empire leader who has toured the battlefields of Africa, and who now tells us that "our men, when battered down by air and mechanical superiority, do not cry for peace, but say 'give us machines,'" for "when we have only half the number of Germany's machines, we shall beat her from the skies and off the earth. . . . Our task today is to lead and drive our people so our heroes can be equipped as heroes should."

Planes, guns, tanks, ships and machines of all kinds has been and still is the cry of the experts; until greater weight in mechanical equipment can be produced in Canada and in every country of the Empire there may be more Cretes. There is no apparent shortage of fighting manpower in Britain; the main difficulty it is obviously experiencing lies in lack of machines, scarcity of ships to send such contrivances where they would be most effective; and until these deficiencies can be made up there would appear to be more urgent necessity for complete industrial conscription everywhere than any other form of compulsory service. Germany has men and mechanical might; but we still have those in our midst who seem to think Crete could have been saved by mere thousands of foot soldiers. What on earth could they have done against a sky virtually dominated by Goering's Luftwaffe, and especially his Stuka bombers by the hundred, without the planes, guns and tanks? There is only one answer. We in Canada must face the stern facts of machine shortage.

Notes

Let's all get on the bondwagon.

New York Post says Washington should clamp down on air-tight embargo on United States exports to Japan because "outside this hemisphere the United States has only two sure allies, Great Britain and China, and this is not a good time to let one of them be murdered." Should the United States put on such an embargo, Ottawa would have one excuse the less for its Japanese appeasement policy.

Thirty girls have just distributed 1,400 Victory Loan display cards to 546 shops and offices in Victoria. The girls did the work as a voluntary contribution to the loan campaign. Persons or firms receiving the cards may also contribute by taking pains to see that the most effective display is made of them in their windows. We must all pull together in this effort and do our best. Every bit counts.

Taxes and War Hardship

From Ottawa Journal

Many people seem to be under the impression that the new taxes of the budget, plus the coming loan of $600,000,000, are going to be adequate to meet this year's war expenditures. They are wrong. After Mr. Lleyly has taken from us approximately $1,500,000,000 in taxes and borrowed $600,000,000 from us, he is still likely to be short about $200,000,000 of this shortage in war savings stamps and noninterest-bearing loans and other odds and ends. But, even then, he will still have to make up between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000.

That being the reality, and this country being committed to this war to the limit, pleas for tax exemptions can hardly be accepted. The cry of "hardship" is not a valid cry. All of us in this country, whether we be farmers, fishermen, professional men, businessmen or workers, are going to suffer hardship; plenty of it.

War IS hardship.

Bruce Hutchison

THEFT

IT IS MY COLD-BLOODED intention to fill this column with figures today, which hardly anyone will care to read, lest it make him think. Also I propose to let my friend Grant Dexter of Ottawa write most of this column for me (for, heaven knows, I have written enough columns for him in my time, and always felt free to help myself to his brains).

Well, to get down to it, Mr. Dexter has recently made an analysis of the manpower of this nation and the results, to say the least of them, are shocking. We have assumed in Canada that, as our population has vastly increased since the last war, our supplies of potential fighting men must have increased vastly also. Mr. Dexter shows that they haven't.

I could quote you his figures in detail because you would never wade through them, but the net result is this: We haven't any more men between the ages of 16 and 49 today than we had in 1914—which strikes me as the most important basic fact in our Canadian life that has been revealed for years. Mr. Dexter's homework seems to have been exceedingly worth while.

In 1911, when they took the census, there were about 2,000,000 men in Canada between 16 and 49, and between 1911 and 1914 thousands of young immigrants came to this country. In 1939, when this war started, there were only 2,784,220 men of this age group in the country. Thus Mr. Dexter concludes that "it is practically certain that we had almost as many of these men in 1914 as in 1939."

AGE CREEPS ON

NOW THE REASON for this amazing condition is quite simple when you come to think of it. As a nation we are getting old. All the civilized nations are getting old because they won't have babies and they will insist on prolonging adult life. Only the barbarous races will have babies nowadays, including the Germans, who do not bother about having them in the conventional way but discourage celibacy at all costs.

Thus in Canada there are more old people than there used to be and fewer young people—fewer of fighting age in proportion to our population. From this it is clear that we do not have in Canada what our amateur orators are fond of calling unlimited resources to throw into this war. Our resources are painfully limited. That is precisely why we must manage them as well as we can and use them where they will be of the most value.

In the last war, Mr. Dexter shows, we enlisted altogether 628,964 men in the fighting services, 422,000 going overseas. By the end of this year there will be 434,000 in those services, but it must be remembered, of course, that the larger figure of the last war included reinforcements added over a four-year period, as they will be added in this war. In the last war we used 275,000 workers in war industries. By the end of this year we shall be using 500,000.

It is clear, therefore, that by the end of this year, after something over two years of war, we shall be using 934,000 men and women directly in the war as against 903,000 in the last war. Considering our growth in population since the last war, this is hardly satisfactory, but the total numbers now are growing very fast, at the rate of around 40,000 a month in the fighting services and in war industry. And there is no suggestion that when the present program is complete at the end of this year it will stop there. It will go on. For the moment the bottleneck is tools and materials. We can't make a gun until we have the factory for it. As we complete this year's factories we can start new ones.

HUMAN BOTTLENECK

BUT IT IS OBVIOUS from all these figures that we will also face a bottleneck in men as time goes on. We shall have to use our available supplies very wisely if we are going to get a maximum war production and we shall probably come to the point, within this year, when we shall have to choose sometimes between putting a man in uniform and putting him at a lathe. One thing is still more clear: With the supplies of labor we have and the drain we are putting on it now, by drafting over 300,000 men into uniform and into factories this year, we shall certainly have less men to produce ordinary goods that we can use.

CANADA'S TURN COMING

THE NEW ZEALANDERS carried the whole load in Crete, and they did so after fighting in Greece one of the most exhausting rearguard actions that any army had ever fought. The Australians did the lions' share of the fighting in Libya, shared the load with the New Zealanders in Greece. The South Africans, and Indians, with the inevitable contingents of troops from the British Isles, won back Ethiopia from Italy. In Iraq Indian troops are doing most of the job.

These troops have paid the heaviest price that men can pay in the cause of duty. Considering the population of New Zealand, almost every family must be suffering real grief over the fate of some loved one as a result of the fighting in Greece and Crete. Canada has to date suffered more lightly than any other part of the British Empire.

WON'T CONTINUE

To date, our losses on land, sea and in the air have been 800 deaths, with a total casualty list of less than 1,000. In the last war, by this time we had had no less than 20,000 killed, with some 50,000 more injured.

We all know that this is chiefly due to the fact that at the request of the British government our troops have been mostly stationed in Britain, Iceland and other Atlantic points where so far there has been no military engagement.

But it would be ridiculous to expect this state of affairs to continue. Sooner or later, the fortunes of war will make it inevitable that Canadians should be called on to carry most of the load, as the New Zealanders and Australians have recently been doing.

That is why it is so important that Canadians should realize that money alone cannot win wars. Industrial production alone cannot win wars. It is true that we are now spending in one year as much money for war purposes as we spent in the whole war of 1914-1918. But this expenditure has no meaning whatever—indeed would be a criminal waste—unless we can produce more.

SHE DOESN'T KNOW

House of Commons Hansard
Mrs. Nielsen: Through the years of depression the people of Canada have, I believe, become fully aware that while they, the working people, have produced and have given of their labor and energy in building this country, it is still apparent that they are being paid with the husks and are being bidden to thank God that they have the husks.

Mr. Martin: Does the hon. member think they would get a better break under Hitler?

Mrs. Nielsen: I do not know whether they would or not.

Mr. Martin: Well, we do.

FREYBERG

From New York Post
The most favorable factor the British have had in Crete is the commander, General B. C. Freyberg. Ever since the last war military men have agreed that he was the nearest thing to a genius the British Empire produced during that conflict. He would have had Sir Douglas Haig's job, it is said, but for two things; he is a Colonial (Australian) and a Jew. If 20 years have not aged his mind as well as his body the British under him count on better leadership than the Germans, something they have seldom had in this war.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!
Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headache, backache, dizziness, dragged out all the time. For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miseries—with Fruit-A-Tives. So can you now. Try Fruit-A-Tives—you'll be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c, 50c.

less its net effect was to put into the hands of some man somewhere the means to fight this war for world freedom.

MONEY AND MEN

Our government has asked the people of this country to lend it at least $600,000,000. Our government has also asked 50,000 young men to volunteer at once for service in the Canadian Active Army, for eventual service at the actual fighting front. I know that the number mentioned in the advertisements is not 50,000, but 32,000. But the fact is that 50,000 volunteers are needed to get 32,000 recruits, in view of rejections because of physical imperfections.

It is a commentary on how we are fighting this war that the organized publicity to borrow the money literally drowns out the call for men.

TEST

Actually the government needs one-quarter of the money now on deposit in the savings banks of the country; and pays more than double the bank rate of interest. If the loan should fall under those conditions my conclusion would be, not only that the patriotic spirit of the people with money was at an all-time low, but that they also lacked the horse-sense to make a better and safer investment than is available anywhere else.

But, while there is every indication that the campaign for money will not only succeed, but surpass its objective, the indications are that the recruiting campaign will fall far short of its goal. In this province, results for the first month of the two-month campaign show that only 25 per cent of the needed number of men actually responded. In other words, to get the number of men required by July 1 merely to keep our army up to strength would mean that enlistments in June would have to be seven times more numerous than they were in May.

That is why every fit young man who intends to do his bit in this fight to preserve what remains of the free world should realize that the time has come when he should act.

Goering Centres Production On Long-range Bombers

Paul Mallon from Washington, D.C.

The increased fury of the latest German air raid on London may not mark the limit of Nazi destructive ingenuity.

The British have plucked information from within Germany that Goering is switching to production of four-motored long-range bombers. He is doing this so he can use more airports and supplies deep within Germany for his bombing attacks.

Until recently the scope of his night fury has been restricted to the number of planes he could supply with gas and oil, mostly along the channel coast in conquered territory.

BOSTON LITERARY NOTE

From New York Times

The Boston police, resisting the pressure of a councilmanic resolution, have decided not to ban Mr. John P. Marquand's new novel. Even though Mr. Marquand is one of our Pulitzer Prize men, and so has to be eyed as a literary cop give him a clean bill of health.

True, his hero, young H. M. Pulham, Esquire, lived in New York for a year and while here sowed a terrific wild oat. But after all, wasn't he a Harvard man? Didn't he repent of his Manhattan vagary and resettle in Brookline, there to become a model of propriety? And didn't he say he was glad he hadn't gone to Yale, whose men always had their eyes on the ball and lacked true refinement? What possible harm could there be to Boston morals in a book like that?

That is why the Germans had to rest a few days after every all-out effort. Their two-motored ships had insufficient range to be based on central German fields, where fuel and supplies can be made available in larger quantities.

Up to now the British have assumed they could make the Germans see the futility of this kind of murderous civilian warfare as soon as they were able to do just as much to Berlin as the Nazis have done to London.

This new bad news brings up a puzzling question of the possible limits of British airports as measured against those Goering may ultimately put to work on the continent.

harm could there be to Boston morals in a book like that? Boston readers seem to feel the same way. Ever since the first outcry they have been standing in line for their copies.

MANHOOD SURGE NEED OF ARMY

The army needs "another surge of Canadian manhood" to fill recently authorized expansions and additions to army formations and units, Major-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, chief of the general army, said in a radio address yesterday from Ottawa.

"The call has gone forth," Gen. Crerar said. "I know that it will be answered and answered magnificently."

He outlined the manpower problem of the Canadian army, particularly with respect to new mechanized units.

"Canadian factories now are producing in rapidly increasing quantities, the powerful armament and mechanized equipment which will enable our Canadian divisions to meet the highly mechanized and armored formations of Germany with forces which are their superior in equipment and striking power," he said.

"The day has arrived when we need the personnel to man these new machines of war."

The recently mobilized army tank brigade and armored division, which he described as "formidable," needed men, and men would be needed for other formations and units as well.

The creation of the armored division within a short time "will be a remarkable accomplishment" by Canadian industry and labor.

Foresters Get Beans on Menu

Canadian Foresters in Scotland eat steaming bowls of baked beans, in accordance with lumber camp traditions, a special concession of the Scottish command. Baked beans aren't on the regular army ration, but the soldier-woodsmen like them, so the high command decreed they should get them often.

The Canadian Forestry Corps has made sure its men will be warm by bringing in hundreds of Canadian iron stoves. The huts are the most comfortable in the Canadian army.

Forces Parade In Calgary

Ranks of the Calgary garrison, navy and air force joined in the greatest parade of Canadian forces ever held in the city to launch the Victory Loan. Approximately 2,500 officers and other ranks of the armed forces, equipped with artillery, Bren guns, tommy guns and anti-tank guns, marched six abreast

"But why the long-range guns? Why don't you just wait until the enemy comes closer?"

through the business section. Ten bands provided music.

200,000 Horsepower Per Division

Horsepower of a Canadian division in the last war was approximately 5,000, compared with the 200,000 horsepower of a modern division, according to Major-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, chief of the general staff.

Weapon power of a division, measured in terms of the number of projectiles which can be fired in a given time, is at least five times as great as in 1918, without taking into account increased range, accuracy and mobility.

Enlistment Only 2.2 Per Cent

Canada's armed services have taken only 2.2 per cent of the population, according to figures quoted by Harold Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in a speech at Montreal.

Mr. Crabtree said it had been estimated that the armed forces could, if necessary, be increased from the present 2.2 per cent up to 6 or 7 per cent of the population without materially affecting the maximum output of war industries.

First Bond Sold At Headquarters

First "over the counter" sale of a Victory Loan bond at the local division headquarters, 614 Humboldt Street, was recorded Saturday.

The purchaser was Cecil French, 700 Government Street. After filling in his application Mr. French was given a miniature "torch of freedom" to wear on his lapel. These are being supplied to purchasers.

At a supper meeting Friday the sales staff teams went into a "huddle" to discuss last-minute details and heard an address by W. M. Patterson, retired New Zealander, on the underlying causes of the war for which the loan is needed.

Whisky Price Up 35 Cents a Quart

W. F. Kennedy, liquor control board chairman, Saturday, announced increases in the prices of Imported Scotch whisky, beer and Canadian wines, effective Monday.

The Scotch whisky increases are due to higher charges by English distillers and freight and war risk insurance charges, the other price changes are due to the new federal taxation.

The increase in imported whiskies will be 35 cents on reputed quarts making the price for standard brands $4.10 instead of $3.75 a bottle. On Imperial quarts the increase is 50 cents a bottle.

On the L.C.B., one, two and three crown brands, which are made up here from imported spirits, the increases will be 25 cents on a 16-ounce bottle, 35 cents on the 26-ounce, 50 cents on the 40-ounce, $1 on half gallons and $2 on gallons.

The price of beer by the bottle will go from $1.90 to $2 a dozen pints, and on quarts, from $3.25 to $3.40. Ale will go up 5 cents a dozen.

BEER UP

On barreled beer the board's charge to licensed premises will go up from $25.50 to $26.70.

Canadian wines will increase 5 cents a quart, 15 cents on half-gallon and 25 cents on full gallon. Burgundy, champagne and vermouth made at Kelowna will increase 25 cents a bottle. Locally-made cocktails will increase 5 cents on small bottles 10 cents on large.

More Help Asked For Recruiting

An urgent appeal for additional support of the recruiting drive in British Columbia will be sent to Defence Minister Ralston by the Vancouver Citizens' Recruiting Committee. A resolution to this effect was framed after committee members expressed belief that the campaign was lagging because of lack of facilities such as martial music and show needed to attract recruits.

Y.W.C.A. Operates 22 Hostess Houses

Twenty-two Y.W.C.A. hostess houses are now either in full operation or under construction near military and air training centres throughout Canada according to a booklet on Y.W.C.A. War Services just released by the national council of the association.

More than 325,000 service men and their families and friends have enjoyed the hostess houses since the first one was established by the Y.W.C.A. shortly after the first military camp had been set up.

Outlined in the new War Services Folder are the services of the 45 Y.W.C.A. buildings across Canada, each playing an important part in women's war work. Each Y.W.C.A. has established a rooms registry for the purpose of guiding soldiers' relatives to lists of inspected rooms. As a result, better homes are now available, the Y.W.C.A. states, and there is less moving due to dissatisfaction.

'Hiawatha' Concert Starts Promptly

Stanley Bulley will commence the concert to be given at the Sports Centre tomorrow night promptly at 8. Patrons are asked to be seated in time for this to be possible. The first half of the program will commence with community singing of O Canada, followed by the well-known "Jerusalem" and "Rule Britannia." The string orchestra will then play three movements from Holst's "St. Paul's Suite," delightfully light and including well-known tunes such as "Green-sleeves." The Arion Club will then sing six songs which will include such favorites as "Lassie o' Mine," "Rolling Down to Rio" and "Drake's Drum," and will be conducted by the club's director, Phillip Hughes.

In addition to the two conductors, many of Victoria's well-known musicians are freely giving their services for this Red Cross concert. Dorothy Parsons, Sidney Chiverall and George Farmer are soloists for the performance of scenes from "The Song of Hiawatha," by Coleridge Taylor, which comprises the second half of the concert. Fay Ockendon leads the string orchestra, which includes many other well-known players, together with Mrs. C. C. Warn, pianist, and Edgar Holloway, organist. Reserved tickets may be obtained from Fletcher Bros.

Duncan School Case Before Board

An appeal by R. Hodson, Duncan High School principal, against his dismissal by the Duncan Consolidated School Board, probably will go before the Board of Reference next week, the Department of Education said today.

The case has aroused considerable discussion in the Duncan area and a petition has been organized by friends of Mr. Hodson, declaring confidence in him.

The school board's resolution, dismissing Mr. Hodson, was passed as a result of criticism of his administration by the chief inspector of schools and two other inspectors in a special report requested by the board, when the high school had its accredited standing withdrawn.

The case reached the government when Mr. Hodson put in his appeal and the school board filed a statement of its reasons.

Since then organization of the petition has started. One is for electors to sign, the other signed by pupils of the school.

Trustee D. D. Chapman, who voted against Mr. Hodson's dismissal and has been absent from school board meetings since, has received letters from some graduates from the school praising the principal.

LOGGING OPERATOR FINED DUNCAN (CP)—F. Crucil on Friday was found guilty on the charge of failure to provide necessary fire-fighting equipment on his logging operation as required under Forest Act regulations and fined $25 and costs by Police Magistrate G. Tisdall.

Weather Fine But No Heat Records

Victoria had some hot days in the month ended Saturday, but no temperature records were set, the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory reports.

The hottest day was May 22, when the mercury rose to 78 degrees. The coldest day was the ninth, 42 degrees.

The month's precipitation was 1.09 inches, which is .13 inches above normal.

Old Sol was seen for 236 hours, 42 hours below normal.

The amount of rain for the five months of the year ending today was 7 inches which is 4.94 inches below normal.

Mayor Asks Support For Loan Campaign

"Prime Minister Churchill has asked us for the tools; we can provide them by subscribing to the Victory Loan of 1941," Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today in an appeal to the citizens of Victoria to support the loan campaign which opened here today.

"I am not unmindful of the fact the claims on the average man's pocket are heavy at present. They may be heavier still. But in these times of emergency it is necessary for all to sacrifice. This war has proved conclusively that it is a war of all classes. Rich and poor alike are suffering in Britain. Rich and poor alike are affected in Canada."

"Victoria has always proved its willingness to shoulder its share of the load in previous times of stress. I am confident it will not lag this time."

"This appeal for funds goes out to all classes. The federal government wants money to carry on its war effort. It can only secure that money where money is. So I call on you all not to consider self-interest, even though the loan offers you a sound return on your funds. Contribute as you can. You have the funds to buy the tools. Surely none can deny Prime Minister Churchill's appeal!"

Canada's 1939 shorn wool production amounted to 13,615,000 pounds, as compared to 13,386,000 in 1938.

Queen Uses Meat Ration As Roast

LONDON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth, free from a slight limp which was observed when she inspected bomb damage at Westminster Abbey earlier this month, went to cooking school today as an observer and said she was pleased with what she saw.

Her Majesty told Lord Woolton, Food Minister and sponsor of the demonstration, that she and the King, both rationed as are any other Britons, like to use their meat ration in the form of a week-end roast. She added:

"Then we try to make it spread over the rest of the week, like so many thousands of other people do."

Lord Woolton, unexpectedly rounding up a half-dozen American reporters who had gone to see the demonstration, presented them to Her Majesty, who talked to them as all the guests took tea.

She spoke mainly of differences in British and American dietary preferences, including the tea-drinking habit, which is not prevalent in the United States.

Perpetual Citizenship

Lafayette was granted perpetual American citizenship for himself and his descendants for his aid in the Revolutionary War. His descendants still hold the privilege.

Red Cross Notes

BLANKETS NEEDED

Owing to a shortage of blankets at the present time in Britain, an urgent call has been sent Red Cross to help relieve the situation by procuring immediately as many blankets as possible, to be used for the bombed out air raid sufferers. The local branch will gratefully receive new or clean used blankets in good condition. These should be sent to the Distributing Centre, Belmont Building, Humboldt Street. Mrs. E. W. Hamber has kindly sent a substantial cheque for the purchase of blankets. The hon. treasurer will be glad to receive donations for this object. An excellent response was made to the recent appeal, but many more blankets are needed, and will be shipped overseas without delay.

OAKLANDS TEA

Afternoon tea and sale of home cooking in aid of the Red Cross Society will be held in Oaklands School auditorium on Wednesday afternoon at 3. A short program will be given by the children of the school. Mrs. R. H. McInnis and members of the unit will preside.

Patients in the R.C.A.F. hospital at Ucluelet are in need of a small radio, and would be very grateful if anyone would donate same, either new or used. Please communicate with Red Cross headquarters, 605 Courtney St., or phone G 3816.

JAMES BAY UNIT

The James Bay unit of the Canadian Red Cross will hold a meeting and silver tea in the South Park School auditorium Thursday at 3. A report of work accomplished by the unit will be given and Col. R. S. Worsley, honorary secretary of the Victoria and District Branch will be the speaker. Afterwards a brief entertainment will be presented by the James Bay Brownie Pack.

The bride donned a form-fitting coat of Air Force blue over her wedding ensemble before leaving for a honeymoon trip on the mainland. Mr. and Mrs. Lindley will make their home in Victoria.

I couldn't stand greasy dishwashing

I TRIED RINSO—grease just disappeared!

TO look at greasy dishwater made me feel quite sick—those nasty greasy rings round the dishpan, the way grease clung to my hands, to the dishcloth, and smeared the dishes as I took them out. Then joy! I discovered Rinso for my dishes. I was amazed! Rinso suds absorb grease—it simply disappears. Dishes come out clean and shining, dry so easily. Use Rinso for your dishes. Begin today! 'FOUR JUST MEN' WALLACE STORY

Francis Sullivan, featured in Monogram's "Four Just Men," now playing at the York Theatre, gave up a career in civil engineering to become an actor.

He entered motion pictures in 1931 his first film being "The Missing Rembrandt." Among his outstanding successes were: "The Citadel," "Great Expectations," "Her Last Affair," "Non-Stop New York," "The Ware Case" and others.

In "Four Just Men," he is one of four mysterious men whose mission in life is to set right the evils of man. The picture is based on Edgar Wallace's famous novel, "Four Just Men."

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Men of Boys Town," coming three years after the notable screen achievement of "Boys Town," was worth waiting for. Not in any sense a sequel, because this drama stands on its own merits as one of the most dynamic, heart-warming entertainments of the season, the new picture, starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

The archelon was the largest turtle that ever lived. Twelve feet long, it did not have a solid armor.

FAMED PLAY WAS FILMED SECRETLY

You can't keep a secret in Hollywood! Even though 20th Century-Fox filmed "Tobacco Road" behind closed studio doors, barred visitors and even the press from the set—the news leaked out! Patrons of the Atlas Theatre will see a memorable picture in "Tobacco Road," opening today.

Directed by John Ford and written by Nunnally Johnson, "Tobacco Road" has a cast topped by Charley Grapewin, Marjorie Rambeau, Gene Tierney and William Tracy.

'HAMILTON WOMAN' HERE WEDNESDAY

To Vivien Leigh, a cinematic career has meant a series of contradictions, unexpected turns and vagaries of fate.

She has shed her type in favor of another oftener than the elms shed their leaves.

In "Fire Over England," she was a Spanish charmer, in "Side-walks of London" she was a Cockney, in "Gone With the Wind" the fascinating Scarlett O'Hara, in "Waterloo Bridge" a ballet dancer, and now, in Alexander Korda's "That Hamilton Woman" which opens at the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday, Emma Hamilton became the reigning queen of her day, worshipped for her beauty and fascination. Miss Leigh, as Emma, has Laurence Olivier as her leading man.

Juvenile Soccer Flourishes in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Despite enlistment of many youths of the 18-year-old class in the armed services, juvenile soccer in British Columbia continues to flourish, according to the report of the provincial secretary, Dave Murray, at the annual general meeting of the British Columbia junior and juvenile football association here Saturday.

From 33 clubs, affiliated with the B.C. body, 629 players of 18 and under were registered.

Financial assistance for underprivileged clubs throughout the province will be sought from the provincial authorities by a committee consisting of Bob Quinn, C. B. Brown and Vern Whitworth, it was decided.

The present commission, Vern Whitworth, T. Fay Elliott, New Westminster, and John B. Milne, were re-elected while at a subsequent meeting of the commission W. J. Pynn and J. G. Hindmarch were reappointed commissioners for Victoria and Nanaimo, respectively.

ARTHUR ASKEY WEARS CORSETS

Before Arthur Askey could start production of his film "Charley's Aunt," which is showing at the Rio this week, he had to be fitted for corsets!

Film stars have to submit to many things, but to ask a man to wear corsets was going too far.

Arthur was told he could not get away with anything but the real thing, so a corsetiere was called in.

She measured him up and after pushing and pulling stay bones and laces stepped back to survey Arthur's 18-in. waist.

Arthur thought it wasn't so bad once they were fitted, but he nearly collapsed when told he would have to wear them 37 times before the film was finished.

'You're the One' Opens Tomorrow

For five years, Bonnie Baker and Bandleader Orrin Tucker barnstormed together, made good on radio's Hit Parade, saw each other practically every day, but love didn't catch up with them until they recently stepped before a Hollywood film camera.

Without warning, their romance suddenly blossomed forth while they were making Paramount's newest comedy with music "You're the One," opening tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre in which they are featured with Jerry Colonna.

As is frequently the custom in Hollywood, the first scene filmed for the picture was the final scene. It was a love scene, with Tucker holding Bonnie close and kissing her. It was the first time Orrin had ever kissed Bonnie. They were flustered and the scene had to be taken over again. They tried it again and observers noted that the next kiss seemed to be more fervent—and more real. Twelve "takes" were required before the kiss scene took on naturalness.

On learning of the romance, Producer Gene Markey declared a half-holiday, so that the picture's cast and studio staff could give a party for Bonnie and Orrin.

JUDY CANOVA IN 'SIS HOPKINS'

One of the main reasons why the musical sequences in the new Republic comedy, "Sis Hopkins," screening now at the Plaza Theatre, won such high praise from film critics is the work of Ada Broadbent, the dance director! Miss Broadbent is top flight in her profession, having directed dance sequences for productions of the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Company.

"Sis Hopkins" stars Judy Canova, of screen, stage and radio. Featured in the cast are Charles Butterworth, Jerry Colonna, Bob Crosby and his orchestra, Susan Hayward, Katharine Alexander, and Carol Adams.

HEDY LAMARR AS COMEDienne

"Comrade X," rollicking comedy, with Clark Gable and Hedy Lamarr as co-stars, opens today at the Cadet Theatre.

Gable is given another dashing adventuresome role as his public likes him best, a daredevil newspaperman in Russia. But the happy surprise is Miss LaMarr, as she has never been viewed before, in the role of a Moscow street car "motorman." She does everything a comedienne is supposed to do and does it well.

THE GREATEST COMEDY IN YEARS

Juvenile Boxla

Juvenile lacrosse made its second start of the season on Saturday night, the young stick-handlers in A and B sections treating a small group of spectators to some of the most nicely played boxla seen in town this year. The kids put on some fine stickhandling and passing and with the dispensing of boarding and unnecessary roughness that has characterized many of the senior and junior battles, the boys flashed the running, passing game that makes lacrosse the sport it should be.

The main game of the evening was a Juvenile A fixture between Foul Bay and Saanich Beavers. Both groups of boys played exceptionally clean and fast ball, Foul Bay taking the game 13 to 3 on the strength of superior finish around the goal mouth. Clark-son's Painters, a new entry into the Juvenile B section, upset the apple cart when they defeated last year's champions, the Times, 8 to 7. In the opener the boys from Oaklands School opened up in the second half to down the Colonist 8 to 4.

Building Shows Small Decrease

Greater Victoria construction during May was brisk but lower than for the corresponding month last year.

In the city itself gross building values for May were at $251,950 compared to $274,765 in May of last year.

Values for Week ended Saturday amounted to $16,705 and included three new homes and $6,500 extensions to a bank.

Several large undertakings were held up during the latter part of the month owing to the fact new federal regulations require authorization from Ottawa for such work. It was hoped permits might be granted for some of them early this month.

SAANICH

Seventy-five permits, worth $114,647, were issued in Saanich during May. Forty-seven of these were for dwellings with a value of $111,300.

During May, 1940, 77 permits were issued with a total value of $125,726, of which 57 were for dwellings worth $122,356.

During the first five months of this year, 268 permits for dwellings were issued, with a total value of $562,560. Permits for 181 dwellings with a value of $364,874 were issued last year.

Permits were issued during the past week to W. W. Warwick for a four-room, $2,200 dwelling on Lansdowne Road; to Dorothy Bissicks for a three-room, $1,200 dwelling on Guernsey Road; to E. F. Neal for a four-room, $2,600 dwelling on Cumberland Road; to Elwyn and Mildred Grace for a five-room, $2,500 home at Saanich and Vernon; to R. E. Harrison for a five-room, $3,500 dwelling on Jackson Avenue; to Arthur Kirby for a four-room, $2,000 dwelling on Colquitz Avenue, and to H. A. Warner for a four-room dwelling on Derby Road valued at $1,600.

OAK BAY

Permits for the construction of 22 houses were issued during May in Oak Bay, compared with 27 during May, 1940. The value of these dwellings was placed at $82,847, compared with $90,650 last year.

Permits for 96 dwellings were issued during the first five months of 1941, compared with 76 during the first five months of 1940. Average value of the dwellings was $3,654 in 1940 and $3,731 in 1941.

Permits issued during the first five months of this year in Oak Bay totaled 145, compared with 113 last year. Total value was $399,057, compared with $297,275 last year.

Value of building in Esquimalt in May was $12,100, and in May, 1940, $13,050. This year's figure includes three house permits of $12,000. The figure for May, 1941, includes five-house permits of $12,150.

For the five months, construction was better this year than last. Permits this year were valued $78,182, and in 1940, $72,400.

No permits were issued last week.

Gadsden to Move Time Change By-law

Ald. B. J. Gadsden will introduce a by-law calling for daylight saving time in Victoria, despite the attitude taken by other municipalities in British Columbia.

"The Federal government has told us the question is one of municipal jurisdiction. Nobody seems willing to step out and take the lead on the question. I am going to introduce the by-law in the hopes the city will take that course," he stated.

Other cities and towns in British Columbia have taken the position they should adopt daylight saving when and if it is recommended by Ottawa as a war measure.

ALL CANADA is United in this Single Purpose

"Give us the tools and we will finish the job"

THERE IS NOT A HOME IN ALL CANADA, not a fireside or family gathering that does not quicken into rapt attention when the voice of Churchill, the articulate voice of the Empire, comes rumbling over the air waves.

To Canadians his great inspiring messages ring with pride, confidence and persuasion. Pride in what this country is doing and plans to do; confidence in the ultimate outcome of Freedom's struggle; appeal for the "tools".

Every savings account in the Dominion is a "kit of tools" for war service. Every bond you buy represents your personal share in a ship, a tank, a fighting plane to stave off the oppressor and put weapons in the hands of our fighting men.

All those valiant spirits who, day and night, are struggling to keep the skies clear, the sea lanes open, and our firesides free from peril, unite in this single-minded national trumpet call "Lend us thine aid".

HOW TO BUY—Give your order to the canvasser who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or give it to any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and larger. Canvasser, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

First Photos Cabled from London of Sinking of Germany's Super-dreadnought, the 50,000-ton Bismarck

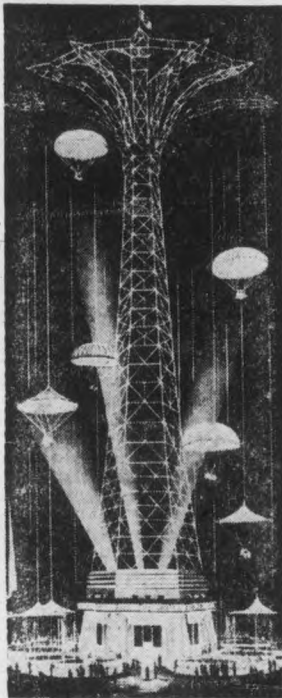

The black dots are sailors of the sunken Nazi flagship Bismarck, hauling them up on ropes but soon had to desist and leave hundreds scrambling to escape the clutching waves. The British started to their fate when German planes attacked and Nazi U-boats were reported in the vicinity.

These sailors of the Bismarck survived the heaviest pounding ever given a modern man-o-war. They were picked up after their ship was battered to pieces. About a hundred officers and men were saved.

Two British soldiers assist a wounded German sailor of the Bismarck down the gangplank upon the prisoner's arrival at a British naval port.

TRAINS 'CHUTISTS—This 25-cent-a-ride thrill feature of the New York World's Fair has been adapted by the United States army for training parachutists in mass numbers. Two training towers on the pattern of this thriller have gone into operation at Fort Benning, Ga., where more than 2,000 parachute troops will be ready for service by November. Towers cost $80,000 each.

Apparently scared stiff by their close call, this group of survivors landing in England. A Canada-bound transport liner dodged the Bismarck after being warned by an accompanying destroyer to increase its speed.

HEAD OF FORESTERS—Frank E. Hand, Toronto, was unanimously re-elected supreme chief ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters.

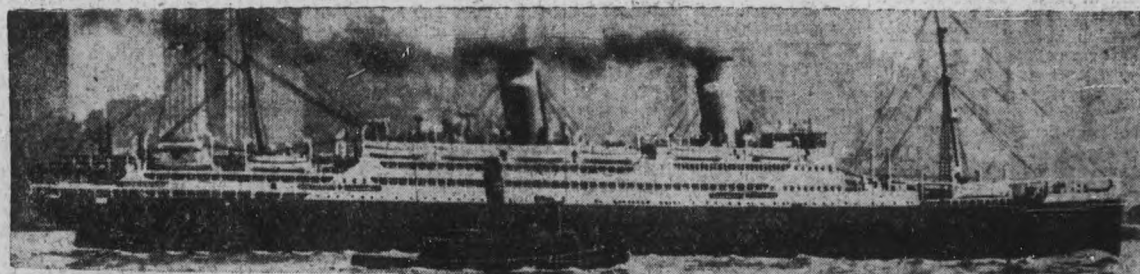

A smoke cloud rises from the Bismarck. A British naval officer who returned from the battle scene with German prisoners from the Bismarck, said the warship's tonnage was nearer 50,000 than the official 35,000 tons. This would make the Bismarck easily the biggest battleship ever in service.

'OLD GLORY' FAILS TO SAVE U.S. GOODS FROM JAPS—Warehouse of the North American Syndicate at Haiphong, French Indo-China, one of two American companies broken into by Japanese who seized $10,000,000 worth of official American goods. Japan declared it did not recognize either company as American undertakings, but "blinds" for the Chinese government.

HELD FOR DEPORTATION—Dr. Kurt Heinrich Rieth, described by the United States agents as the No. 1 Nazi agent for the western hemisphere was held without bail in New York, pending deportation proceedings. The suave, well-financed German diplomat was charged with entering the country illegally and under false pretenses after a visit to every South American country.

BRITISH SUB SINKS TROOP-LADEN ITALIAN LINER—The Italian high command admits that the 17,897-ton Italian liner Conte Rosso was sunk by a torpedo south of Syracuse, Sicily, laden with troops. The 19-year-old ship was traveling in convoy when she went down, and the troops she was transporting were apparently reinforcements to Italian garrisons in north Africa, since the newspaper Il Popolo de Roma said fresh manpower was being convoyed across the Mediterranean by the Italian navy.

AFTER FRIDAY NIGHT'S box lacrosse brawl, which reached a comical climax with the referees throwing up their hands and walking off the floor, it is time for the league officials to step in and take some disciplinary action. If the present referees cannot control a game then whistle-blowers who can should be obtained. We realize the men in white have no easy task, but they should never allow the players to run out of hand to the extent where they call a game before its scheduled completion.

There was only about a minute of play remaining Friday night but those odd seconds should have been played out. After all, the rules call for a specified playing time and no contest should be called before that time has elapsed just because the players become unruly. Looks like the players are running the game and not the referees. The league should take action and take it promptly. Such incidents do anything but good for the game and until such time as the players learn they must abide by the decisions of the referees, without a lot of squawking, there will be trouble.

Friday night's trouble resulted because the referees failed to use a stern enough hand in the matter of penalties. Certain players were allowed to get away with questionable tactics and when no penalties resulted matters just went from bad to worse. In the free-for-all a couple of players suffered painful cuts, calling for the attention of a doctor. It might be wise to call the players together and make them realize just how seriously they can injure an opponent when they start swinging sticks. Otherwise somebody is going to get badly hurt and the sport will suffer.

When he considered letting Ken Jungels go this spring Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians remarked:

"A fellow who has been optioned out three times seldom comes back to burn up the major leagues."

He had better be careful, making such statements. Jim Turner had been in the minors 12 years, Lou Fette nine when they came up to win 20 games apiece for the Boston

Braves in 1937. Turner was crowding 31, Fette was 30.

John Whitlow Wyatt had pitched 11 years... had been given up on by three American League clubs when Brooklyn paid Milwaukee $25,000 for him.

Al Smith was at the same stage when Steve O'Neill talked him into sticking with the game in 1939. Even the Phillies passed him along.

Detroit had given him the air and Luke Hamlin had toiled nine terms when he struck his stride with the Dodgers.

Emil Leonard couldn't make it with Brooklyn... toiled eight years before he developed and Washington capitalized on his knuckle ball.

Bucky Walters quit pitching for third basing... tramped around for seven seasons before he was transformed into one of the game's top pitchers.

Truett Sewel is the only man in a Pittsburgh uniform who could possibly be passed off as a pitcher. Detroit had the Alabama, but he required seven years to get going.

Detroit handed Carl Hubbell a blue slip. The Meek Man of Meeker was six years developing the screwball and poise that made him Bill Terry's meal ticket.

Walter Kirby Higbe was tossed in by the Chicago Cubs in a trade with Philadelphia... was among those present for a half dozen grinds before he showed the stuff that brought $100,000.

Bo-Bo Newsom struggled for an equal length of time... had been with 10 clubs before he hit it off with the lowly St. Louis Browns. Harry Gumbert of the New York Giants and Fat Fred Fitzsimmons spent six-year apprenticeships.

Lefty Grove toiled seven years before he conquered wildness. Red Ruffing worked for a similar period before attracting the attention of the New York Yankees. Al Milnar had been at it seven years when he came through with 18 victories for Cleveland last term. Curt Davis spent a half dozen years in the minors.

Many pitchers, especially left-handers, are a long time developing.

The pitcher is the one ball player who can be sent away by a major league club and bounce back with something new.

Sid Jenkins Wins Tourney

Breaking 90 for the first time in his links career with an 84, which his handicap reduced to a net 65, Sid Jenkins, member of the Times staff, won the second annual Victoria tenpin bowlers' golf tournament at the Uplands Club yesterday.

Jenkins won by a single stroke over Bob Turner with 85-19-66 with George Robertson finishing third with 79-12-67.

Other leading net scores follow: Bob Watson 68, Ian Donaldson 69, Dave Barr 69, Harold Paulding 69, Jack Bacon 70, Ian Malcolm 70, Rex Jackson 70, Red Martin 71, Red Lawson 71, Jack Okell 71, Al Falk 71, Dave Hurdle 72 and Les Colton 72.

Jack Bacon turned in the best round of the tournament with a 78. Going to the other extreme H. Butler carried off the booby prize with 197. He was out in 110 and back in 87. His crowning achievement was a 20 on the seventh hole. A. Mawer won the second booby award with 139.

The competition attracted a field of 83. Jim Ferguson presided over the dinner held in the clubhouse and Doug Bowers presented the prizes.

Red Martin was elected president and Red Lawson secretary of the committee to handle next year's tournament.

Eagles Split With Chemainus

Chemainus ball team still leads the Victoria Senior League, but the up-landers have finally been beaten. Yesterday the Eagles, second place club in the loop, journeyed up-island and split a double-header, winning the first game 4 to 0 and dropping the nightcap 10 to 5.

Previous to their meeting with the Eagles the Chemainus ball tossers had won a pair of games from the Tillicum Athletics and Pitzer and Nex.

League standings find Chemainus in front by a single game margin over the Eagles. The up-landers have yet to make their local debut, their scheduled games with the Eagles here Saturday being called off on account of rain. Tonight's game at the Athletic Park at 6 will see Pitzer and Nex tackle the Tillicums. Their last meeting resulted in a 3 to 3 tie.

GORGE VALE GOLF
In the monthly medal competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club yesterday, O. A. Trickett was the winner with a net score of 70. F. L. Basanta and Gordie Petticrew tied for second with 71s.

Another five two-minute rounder will be seen in the semi-wind-up between Mickey Rogan, Vancouver, Pacific Northwest Golden Gloves champion and Lionel Speller of Victoria, runner-up.

Special event will bring together Frank Seriani of Nainaimo and Teddy Gray of Victoria, a pair of lightweight. This scrap is slated for four two-minute rounds.

In addition six other bouts will be run off with Victoria boys participating.

First card staged at the Garden some weeks ago attracted a sell-out house and it is expected Friday's card will see another big turnout.

Dale Conference Champ

Breaks Meet Record

BERKELEY, Calif.—Grover Klemmer, long-legged University of California sophomore, Saturday equalled the world record of 46.4 seconds in the 440-yard dash but University of Southern California's power easily won the Pacific coast track and field championships.

U.S.C. rolled up 73 points, winning five events, to capture the team championship. California was second with 48½ and Stanford and Washington State tied for third with 24 each. Other point standings were Idaho 14, U.C.L.A. 12½, Washington 9, Oregon 8, Montana 6 and Oregon State 6.

Klemmer's smashing victory in the 440, in which he was not pressed, tied the world mark set by blazing Ben Eastman of Stanford back in 1932.

Klemmer returned to run California's anchor lap in winning the mile relay. The 100-yard dash was won by Kjell Qvale of the University of Washington in 9.8 seconds. This was the only first accredited to Washington. Howard Sinclair of U.C.L.A. placed second and Clifford Bourland of U.S.C. third.

Besides Klemmer's mark, four other new conference records were established. In the mile run

Perry Double Winner

Pro Tennis Champion

CHICAGO (AP)—Fred Perry, international tennis star, regained the world's professional singles championship yesterday. Perry, 1938 titleholder, defeated Dick Sken of Hollywood in the finals, 6-4, 6-8, 6-2 and 6-3, before 1,000 spectators at the Chicago Town and Tennis Club.

Perry, veteran of Davis Cup play and three times national United States amateur singles champion, collected $400 for his triumph.

He supplanted Don Budge as the singles champion, the California redhead losing in the second round to John Faunce of Hollywood.

Perry returned to the court with Budge and they defeated Les Stofen and Keith Gledhill of Los Angeles for the doubles championship 6-4, 6-4 and 6-3.

Amazing Chicago Sox Jump Into First Place

Brooklyn in Deadlock With Cards

Miss secretary, when you get finished figuring out how the top of both big leagues got so scrambled during the week-end, please take a letter to James Joseph Dykes, care of Chicago White Sox, first place, American Baseball League. "Dear Jimmy: We see by the papers you're right up there at the head of the parade today. Nice going, pal. But you better give those old legs of yours a shot in the arm and come back to work. That is, if you want that American League pennant, you'd better come off that retired list and try to put a cork in your infield."

"You split with the Washington Senators yesterday, blowing the first 3 to 2 and taking the nightcap 4 to 3 in 11 innings. Except for some extra-special stuff by those fancy Duns in your infield, you might have won both ends to take a real toehold on first place, instead of barely getting a grip on a one-percentage-point edge."

"Just look back over the recent goings-on. You've won 15 of 21, but if it wasn't with mirrors then how was it? Your boys made four errors in the first game yesterday and blew it—and the fumbles were directly responsible. They made three the day before and had to go all out to win. They made two last Wednesday and were whipped, and three the day before that and dropped another."

Brooklyn Dodgers nipped the collapsing Cardinals 3 to 2 yesterday to climb into a first-place tie with St. Louis in the National League. A single by Cookie Lavagetto in the fifth inning sent two runs across to hand the Cards their third straight setback and boost the Dodgers' winning streak to nine in a row.

Although the White Sox's split left them one point in front of the Indians in the American League percentage standings, the Tribe actually remained a half game on top in the won-lost record, despite the 2 to 0 and 5 to 3 thumping they absorbed from the New York Yankees.

Boston Red Sox moved into fourth place and dropped Detroit all the way to sixth by trouncing the Tigers twice. Jimmy Fox's three-run homer went a long way toward winning the opener 7 to 6. A run in the ninth decided the free-for-all nightcap 6 to 5. The amazing Philadelphia Athletics turned in 5 to 2 and 5 to 3 victories over the St. Louis Browns.

The 400th homer of Mel Ott's

17-year career led New York Giants to a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati Reds in the first game of their double bill. But Junior Thompson's eight-hit flinging gave the Rhinelanders the afterpiece by an identical score.

Chicago Cubs bombarded the Phillies 9 to 5 in their opener, and then took the nightcap, 1 to 0.

COAST LEAGUE

Solaced by the fact they've been a much better road team than a home team, the Seattle Rainiers headed south today for a series with Sacramento's Solons, who finally lost their first series of the season to San Francisco last week.

The Rainiers dropped two series on the home lot—to Oakland and Hollywood—and could not knot the series count yesterday as they went 16 innings to a time limit tie with the Stars, the count ending at 2 to 2, with the twinks taking the abbreviated series, three games to two.

Good pitching proved too much for Portland in the Rose City yesterday, Oakland's Stan Corbett blanking the Beavers in the first game 5 to 0 and Ralph Buxton allowing but four hits to win the seven-inning nightcap for the Oaks, 7 to 2.

The Solons dropped five out of seven to the Seals. San Francisco took the first 7 to 5, behind Eddie Stutz, and Tom Seats, a former Solon, pitched the second game for a 5 to 4 win.

Los Angeles and San Diego divided a Sunday doubleheader, but if Wally Hebert hadn't become a father between innings, the padres might have captured a pair. They won the opener 9 to 5, but Los Angeles came back to take the nightcap after two extra innings 9 to 8. Hebert, hurling for San Diego in the second game, was sailing along with a 6 to 0 lead when news of the baby's arrival was broken to him.

Officials Open Conference Here

Following a welcome by Premier T. D. Pattullo and Mayor Andrew McGavin, members of the Municipal Officials' Association of British Columbia plunged into business sessions as their two-day annual conference opened in the Parliament Buildings this morning. Approximately 60 delegates are attending.

Premier Pattullo expressed the view his government had been subject to unjust criticism over its attitude towards the Sirols report, and suggested boards of trade and other organizations which had attacked B.C.'s position, should devote greater study to such matters before voicing opinions. He spoke briefly of the province's subsequent moves to co-operate with federal authorities, mentioning particularly its stand on the income tax question.

MAYOR'S WELCOME

Mayor McGavin stressed the importance of efficiency, patience and courtesy in the attitude of municipal officers towards the public. The first contact of the public with the "government" came through the officials, and it was incumbent upon them to make a good impression to secure respect and good will for the authorities.

The annual conference of municipal officers afforded delegates an excellent opportunity to iron out their difficulties with the provincial government, and tended to improve the administration of municipal affairs, he concluded.

All ranks of 55th and 60th Batteries R.C.A. (R.F.) will report at Woolen Mills Thursday night at 7.15 in preparation for Retreat Ceremony at Parliament Buildings at 8.

Tonight at 8 the Associated Radio Technicians of B.C. will meet in the Arcade Building.

Veteran Shorthand Reporter Speaks at the Royal Business College

Mr. Thomas Bengough, retired official reporter of the Senate of Canada, father of shorthand schools in the Dominion and holder of the 250 minute record, now enjoying the beauties and salubrious climate of Victoria, on Wednesday, May 28 was guest speaker at the Royal Business College and demonstrated development and progress of shorthand covering 50 years.

He told a racy story of his experiences as court reporter in Toronto for 30 years and in the Senate at Ottawa for more than 20 years.

In the National Shorthand Reporters' Association, Mr. Bengough 30 years ago projected a plan for the improvement of Pitman shorthand through a committee of leading expert reporters, and that the standardization committee had produced three vital books—first on word-signs and contractions, second on phrases, covering 7,500 of those most frequently used in technical court cases, and finally the standardization business shorthand (Pitman), a textbook covering all improvements suggested by the thousands of national members since 1909. Dr. Edward H. Eldridge, editor of this textbook, the only member beside Mr. Bengough who had been on the committee since 1909, died last month just as the manuscript was completed and handed over to the Pitman Corporation at New York; Mr. John J. Healy, ex-president, was the third member of the committee. The national association will hold its 41st convention in Seattle next August.

Loan Flag-raising Ceremony

Premier Calls for Money And Men as Drive Opens

With a plea from Premier T. D. Pattullo to citizens to support the loan campaign and to assembled women to exert their efforts to increase recruiting of manpower here, Victoria formally opened its 1941 Victory Loan drive at a flag-raising ceremony on the corner of Government and Belleville Streets today.

Noon hour crowds thronged to the flagstaff to watch Mrs. Eric W. Hamber break out the special standard, a white ensign bordered with red and bearing the symbolic torch in blue. Detachments from the navy, the army and the air force formed a guard of honor with standard bearers of the I.O.D.E. During the ceremony selections were rendered by the R.C.A. Active Service Band, which also played for the hymns.

Promptly at 12.30, J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Victoria loan committee, and Herbert Anson, M.P.P., welcomed Mrs. Hamber and other dignitaries.

After O Canada, Mr. Anson addressed the gathering, reminding it of the start of the torch of freedom flight started here on May 24 with a message of cheer for Prime Minister Churchill.

That torch had been a symbol of Canada's determination "to furnish the tools," he declared. The present loan would pay only part of the costs of the war, he said, as he emphasized the words:

"Our prime duty is to subscribe as heavily as we can to the loan."

Never, he added, had Canada so much at stake.

He called upon the citizens to think not of self but of the future and what it might hold if England failed.

MUST CREATE MIGHT

Premier Pattullo paid tribute to the Women's Canadian Club for its organization of the ceremony. He contrasted the freedom of the Empire with the terrorism and fanatical domination of Germany by the forces of evil.

"In our belief in the Golden Rule we have become careless or negligent or complacent and imprecise in failure to recognize the forces of evil gathering about us in such tremendous proportions. From the same rule we shall gather new strength with all our might to destroy this terrorist monster and from there go on unflinchingly until there shall come about in the world a new recognition of the beneficence of the practical application of the Golden Rule to national as well as personal affairs," he said.

From Ottawa came news the Turner Valley area in Alberta claimed the right to fly the first honor pennant in Canada for being the first area to go "over the top" in the $600,000,000 Victory Loan campaign which opened today.

In a wire to Finance Minister Isley, George T. Taylor, divisional organizer of the Turner Valley loan committee, said:

"Claiming right to fly first honor pennant in Canada, western Canada oil unit passed objective at opening time." Loan officials in Ottawa did

As Britain had right on her side, the Empire should build up its might, sure in the knowledge that might and right could beat might alone.

"Our task then is not only to build up our might to equal that of Germany but to completely outdistance them in providing men and essentials of every description to overwhelm them," he said. "We have had an example recently in Crete where through lack of airplane support, we were not able to frustrate the progress of the enemy."

"We must have planes, trainers, fighters and bombers, naval craft and merchantmen, tanks and tractors, guns and motorized equipment, all the thousand of things which constitute the tools to bring this job to a successful and lasting conclusion," he said.

He reviewed British Columbia's efforts to advance production of war essentials, spoke of the peace and plenty in which British Columbians lived, expressed gratification over the attitude of the United States and referred to the huge loan raised recently in London for war purposes.

"What an example for us!" he said, referring to the London loan. "Canada can do no less and in British Columbia let us see to it that we lead all Canada."

NEED MEN

"At this moment when we are asking for subscriptions in connection with the Victory Loan, I am sorry to say that our recruiting campaign is not succeeding as is not only desirable but necessary, and I take advantage of this occasion to suggest that the women can be especially effective in assisting the campaign for recruits. We must have the men as well as the money," he declared.

"We have come to firm resolution that we shall never be overcome, and, to make good this resolution, we must have all the sinews of war. We have right on our side. Let us to it then with all our might until victory shall have been achieved."

The assembly joined in singing "There'll Always Be an England" as the premier finished.

Squads sprang to attention and standards were raised as Mrs. Hamber broke out the flag, to the strains of "Rule Britannia." The ceremony closed with a prayer led by Dean S. H. Elliott and the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

not have the figures for the Turner Valley objective, but said the honor pennants were being given all areas which go beyond their quotas.

Meanwhile, reports from major centres across Canada show "a tremendous response from individuals to the loan, the loan publicity committee said in a statement today as more than 20,000 canvassers swung into action.

The nation, as a whole, to reach its objective in the allotted time, will require to subscribe an average of $33,000,000 daily until the anticipated closing June 21. The statement said month-end payrolls were converted in substantial fashion into Victory Loan bonds.

SECOND R.C.A.F. CRASH AT KEATING

A broken left foot and a fractured left ankle were suffered by Sergeant S. Muckle and L.A.C. E. E. Smith, respectively, attached to No. 18 Elementary Flying Training School, R.C.A.F., when their training plane crashed near an emergency landing field at Keating Saturday afternoon.

Muckle, who comes from Toronto, was instructing Smith, from Reston, Manitoba, at the time of the crash which demolished the Moth training plane they were flying.

Both men are in Patricia Bay Hospital where they were reported today to be in good condition. Cause of the crash was not given by R.C.A.F. officers.

It was the second training plane mishap at Keating since May 9 when Temporary Sergeant J. Dawson, Berkeley, California, was killed in a crash on the Michell-Farm. L.A.C. S. E. Mann, Denver, Colorado, who was receiving instructions from Dawson at the time, escaped when he jumped from the plane by parachute.

Provided cases are listed by August 25, the Exchequer Court of Canada will sit in Victoria on September 19 in the course of its western swing during the month of September, it was learned at the Court House this morning.

CYCLIST FAILS IN DAMAGE SUIT

The action brought by Edith Slater against Herbert Stokes for $1,500 special and $10,000 general damages for injuries she suffered when she was struck while riding a bicycle on Beacon Avenue, Sidney, on July 18, 1940, by the defendant's car, was dismissed with costs in a Supreme Court judgment handed down recently by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson.

Plaintiff sued on the grounds the defendant was negligent in failing to see her at the time of the accident which occurred at 9 in the evening.

The defence indicated the woman, wearing a long black coat, was riding in a manner to conceal the red reflector and white stripe on the rear mudguard of her wheel.

"In this case, under the circumstances, I am unable to say the defendant was bound to see the plaintiff's bicycle in time to avoid it. The action is dismissed with costs," the judgment stated in part.

Noted British Author Dead

KESWICK, Cumberland, Eng. (CP)—Sir Hugh Walpole, 57, who wrote almost a book a year from the age of 25; died of a heart attack yesterday at his lakeland home, Brackenburn, near here. He had been ill a week.

In his novel "Roman Fountain," published last year, Sir Hugh recalled an occasion when Hitler wept. He met Hitler in Bayreuth in 1924 soon after Hitler had served a prison sentence for the Munich beer cellar putsch and had written "Mein Kampf."

"I remember he cried," wrote Walpole. "And that I felt his passion for Germany so sincere it seemed to burn through his ugly boots into the ground and that I liked him and thought him in every way tenth rate."

He wrote almost to the end. One of his main contributions was to the regular book review section of a London newspaper.

Born in New Zealand in 1884, the only son of an Anglican clergyman, he had written five books by the outbreak of the first Great War and was then hailed as one of the foremost of the younger novelists.

Sir Hugh was vacationing in Russia when the 1914 war began, and he immediately joined the Russian Red Cross, served two years in the Russia of the Czar and was awarded the Georgian Medal. Then foreseeing the collapse of the Russian monarchy he escaped from the country just before the Bolshevik revolution.

He spent many years at his home near here, in the heart of the Cumberland mountains.

WAS MISSIONARY
Walpole, frequently termed "the modern Anthony Trollope," tried home missionary work and schoolmastering before his first novel appeared in 1909, when he was 25.

From the outset he was recognized as a writer who would take a place among the foremost authors of his time. He was made a commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1918 and was knighted May 10, 1937. His "The Secret City," published in 1919, was awarded the James Tait Black prize.

He was a confirmed bachelor. When he was eight he lived in New York. Then the family returned to Britain and Hugh was sent to King's School, Canterbury. To this, the oldest school in England, claiming foundation by St. Augustine in A.D. 596, he later gave his personal and collected manuscripts and books, together with a goodly sum for endowment, to found a literary museum.

From King's School Walpole went to Emmanuel College, Cambridge. Following his graduation, he preached for a short time at a Liverpool waterfront mission for seamen.

LABORED IN BASEMENT
The urge to write, inherited from Sir Horace Walpole, whose "Castle of Otranto," published in 1764, started the romantic revival and 5th Brigade (R.F.) were stationed at the Causeway and Yates and Blanshard Streets respectively to entertain crowds awaiting the parade.

Signs borne on army trucks appealed to eligible young men among the onlookers to "Step Up and Step Out in a Uniform" and to "Enlist Now."

"You Are Needed Now—Not Later" stated one big poster.

Three 75 mm. field guns of modern design, drawn by armored artillery tractors, made their first public appearance in Victoria.

The trucks, shown above, each take the place of six horses in the last war.

Other equipment included a huge searchlight mounted on a Royal Canadian Army Service Corps truck, immediately followed by its own powerful generator carried on a truck of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, a signal service repair unit, panel trucks and motorcycle dispatch riders.

Canadian Scottish equipment on display in the parade included a camouflaged Bren gun and trench mortar manned by steel-helmeted crews, carried by platform trucks, and signaling apparatus. Trucks also carried barbed wire entanglements and men equipped to handle gas attacks.

Army and city police motorcycles cleared the route of the parade.

War Supplies Speed-up
Roosevelt Takes Priority Powers

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt today obtained power to speed production of arms for Britain and the United States by imposing on American industry mandatory priorities for wartime scope.

He signed a bill, the temporary White House announced, under which mandatory priorities may be assigned to an order or contract of any foreign government brought within terms of the Lease-Lend Act, and in some case, to orders of any government department or of private industry.

Heretofore, only contracts placed by the army and navy could be given mandatory priorities by the Office of Production Management—the agency to which Mr. Roosevelt has delegated his authority over priorities.

Again to bolster the armament program, the President has signed a bill to keep iron ore feeding into steel plants. It will permit Canadian vessels to carry ore between United States ports on the Great Lakes during the 1941 transportation season.

SUSPEND COAST TRADE LAW
The bill suspends for a year a law reserving coastwise trade to U.S. ships. There are not enough American bottoms to carry all the ore to meet demands surpassing all previous records. Eighty-five per cent of the iron ore comes from the Lake Superior region, so Canadian ships will be placed as they were in the First Great War, to haul the ore between lake ports.

Except for army and navy orders, the O.P.M. has utilized a system of voluntary preference certificates. A manufacturer could refuse to honor them or run the risk of a damage suit from a private customer if he did honor them.

EXTENSION
The bill just become law allows extension of mandatory priorities to contracts made by Britain or any other foreign country brought under the Lease-Lend Act.

Orders of government agencies other than the army and navy and of private industry, when they are of vital importance to

Mechanized Units in Recruiting Parade

Mechanical equipment needed in modern warfare was displayed to crowds on downtown streets Saturday afternoon in a recruiting parade organized in connection with the drive for 32,000 men for Canada's Active Army.

Although the parade was devoted mainly to guns and transport of various types, men of the 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, R.C.A., and the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish, marched in the procession and won applause from the spectators.

The brass band of the 5th Brigade led the parade and three pipers headed the infantrymen of the Canadian Scottish. Bands of the 3rd Canadian Scottish (R.F.)

War Supplies Speed-up
Roosevelt Takes Priority Powers

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt today obtained power to speed production of arms for Britain and the United States by imposing on American industry mandatory priorities for wartime scope.

He signed a bill, the temporary White House announced, under which mandatory priorities may be assigned to an order or contract of any foreign government brought within terms of the Lease-Lend Act, and in some case, to orders of any government department or of private industry.

Heretofore, only contracts placed by the army and navy could be given mandatory priorities by the Office of Production Management—the agency to which Mr. Roosevelt has delegated his authority over priorities.

Again to bolster the armament program, the President has signed a bill to keep iron ore feeding into steel plants. It will permit Canadian vessels to carry ore between United States ports on the Great Lakes during the 1941 transportation season.

SUSPEND COAST TRADE LAW
The bill suspends for a year a law reserving coastwise trade to U.S. ships. There are not enough American bottoms to carry all the ore to meet demands surpassing all previous records. Eighty-five per cent of the iron ore comes from the Lake Superior region, so Canadian ships will be placed as they were in the First Great War, to haul the ore between lake ports.

Except for army and navy orders, the O.P.M. has utilized a system of voluntary preference certificates. A manufacturer could refuse to honor them or run the risk of a damage suit from a private customer if he did honor them.

Empire Leaders Launch Victory Loan Campaign

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Justice Minister Lapointe figuratively clasped hands across the sea in a two-nation broadcast send-off for Canada's $600,000,000 Victory Loan campaign which opened today.

"I am confident this tremendous effort will be crowned with success," said Mr. Churchill, speaking to Canadians from No. 10 Downing Street in French and English.

And, speaking to Britons of Canada's new loan, Mr. King said, "this does not mean that we expect victory in 1941; it does mean that we are ready this year, and in each succeeding year, as long as the war may last, to do all that lies within our power to help and to ensure victory."

As the spokesman for French Canada, Mr. LaPointe, talking in French and English, declared: "We are at war; we must work, fight, win or perish together."

The three leaders were heard over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

FORTIFIES BRITONS
To Canadians Mr. Churchill said: "Your comradeship in this mortal struggle cheers and fortifies the people of these islands."

"To Nazi tyrants and gangsters it must seem strange that Canada, free from all compulsion, oppression, so many thousands of miles away, should hasten forward into the van of the battle against the evil forces of the world."

"These wicked men could not understand the deep current of loyalty and tradition flowing between the self-governing nations of the British Empire, but the people of Britain are proud of the fact that the liberty of thought and action, won in the course of their long and romantic history, should have taken root from Halifax to Victoria."

"Canadians also are the heirs of another tradition—the true tradition of France, a tradition of valor and faith which they keep alive in these dark days and which we are confident will, in the end, bring back to life France herself."

Europe Is Chief Home Of the White Race

Among the world's continents, Europe is next to the smallest. It is larger than Australia, but is less than half the size of North America. It is only one-fifth as large as Asia.

Scientists have tried to divide the people of Europe into classes depending on whether they have "short" or "long" heads. Some nations, including Germany, are much mixed in this respect.

Those statements are about area, not population. Europe ranks second in number of people. It has more people than North America, South America, Africa and Australia together.

The name of Europe, like that of Asia, seems to go back to the ancient Assyrians. They called the region to the west of them "Ereb," meaning "Setting Sun" or "Land of the Setting Sun." From "Ereb" the name "Europe" is believed to have come, with changes in the way of speaking it through the centuries.

Europe is the chief home of the white race. It contains about two-thirds of all the white people on earth.

The white race holds first place in the so-called "art of war." It can produce better cannon, better warplanes and better naval vessels than any other race.

Many persons believe that any nation which gets control of Europe will be a danger to nations on other continents. There is fear that such a nation might make itself master of the whole world.

Mountains have played a big part in Europe's history. In times past they have kept people apart in Europe. Those living on one side of a mountain range often did not meet, or talk with, those on the other side, at least not to any wide extent.

The Alps, the Pyrenees, the Vosges and the Carpathians are among the mountains which have kept people apart in Europe. They help explain the many countries and many languages, but there are other reasons as well.

Airplanes, railway lines across mountains, the telephone, the telegraph and the radio have done much to help people "cut across" the mountains. They have traveled more freely, and have come to know one another better.

If that had gone on for a longer time, perhaps the world would have been saved from the present war. Let us hope that in the years ahead, a free and happy Europe will rise. Such a Europe will do a great deal to decide whether the rest of the world can be free and happy.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Several years ago I married a young man who had received only a fair education, but, being ambitious for him, I taught school during the long years in which he prepared himself for being a lawyer. His mother, a prosperous widow, did nothing to help him. In fact, our marriage was so annoying to her that she did not even make us a wedding gift. And when our children were born her coldness did not thaw sufficiently for her to embrace them.

However, when her daughter married, she gave her a complete trousseau, money, household furnishings and a large wedding, and her son-in-law is idolized. I have been an orphan since babyhood and would have welcomed a mother. This was denied me, yet the son-in-law is feted constantly. Why should there be any discrepancy between a woman's feelings for her son-in-law and her daughter-in-law?

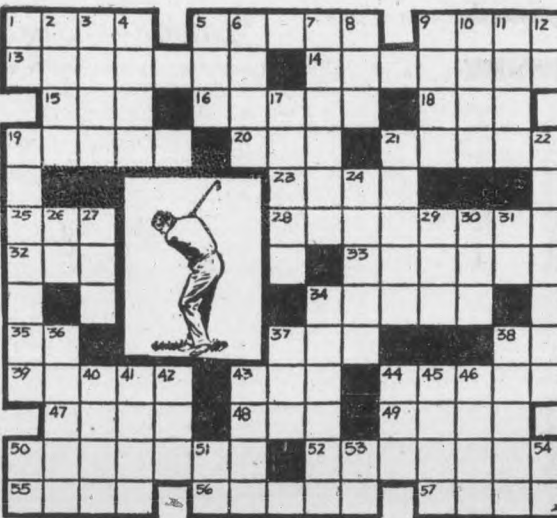

Answer: Evidently in your particular case your mother-in-law's conduct toward you is based upon the fact that her son married the woman he wanted instead of the woman Mother had picked out for him. She is not big enough and intelligent enough to accept the situation and to make the best of it and to forget her prejudices in order to make a friend of you and so make her son happy.

Hence she picks on you all the time, excludes you from the family circle as much as possible and extends her petty spite even to your children. And the only thing for you to do is just to ignore it and refuse to let it make you unhappy.

It is true, however, that virtually all mothers like their sons-in-law better than they do their daughters-in-law. One reason for this whereas most mothers hate to see their son marry and feel that a certain gratitude to the men who take them off their hands, whereas most mothers hate to see their sons marry and feel that their wives have stolen their baby boys from them.

DOROTHY DIX.

HINDU ATTACKED

Guizara, a Hindu living at 2826 Quesset Street, told Saanich police early yesterday morning he had been struck over the head, robbed of $5.50 and his glasses, without which he is almost blind, and then thrown over a small bridge into a stream on Burnside Road by two unknown assailants.

The Hindu told Constable Jack Hamilton of the Saanich force that his two attackers were white men whom he met in a beer parlor. He was unable to give a description of them.

The man was taken home by the police from Seaton Street and Burnside Road, where he was picked up.

U.S. Buys More British Goods

Americans are being made to realize the value of buying British goods, national director Robert Smith of the Committee to Aid Britain by Reciprocal Trade, told a group of Victoria businessmen Friday in a talk on the work of his committee.

"You can capitalize here on our campaign," he said, "by making a comparatively small effort in reminding American tourists that to buy British-made goods is to help Britain in the war."

Last fall, Mr. Smith and David Robinson, both of Portland, Ore., observed that most Americans were unaware that every dollar spent for British merchandise helped Britain to buy war supplies in the United States. They organized the Committee to Aid Britain by Reciprocal Trade, and the first "Buy Something British" campaign opened on Thanksgiving Day in Portland. Every Portland store handling British goods put in special window displays and placed special advertisements in the papers.

SPREAD RAPIDLY

The committee subsequently spread its work throughout the United States, until now there are 83 local committees. More than 11,000 window displays have been devoted to British-made goods in connection with "Buy Something British" campaigns.

In Los Angeles during a one-week campaign, stores did more business in British goods than they previously had done in three months.

"I have no doubt," Mr. Smith declared, "that we can increase by two-thirds this year the value of British goods sold in the United States."

Last year British exports to the United States amounted to approximately $150,000,000. This year they are most likely to amount to $250,000,000.

GREAT DISPLAYS

Seventy stores in Los Angeles devoted 230 windows to displays of British goods, along with posters provided by the committee, on the opening day of the campaign. San Francisco had a similar campaign five weeks later, New York is having one now and Seattle will open a drive on June 16.

Advertising and articles have been placed not only in many leading newspapers throughout the United States, but in nationally popular magazines.

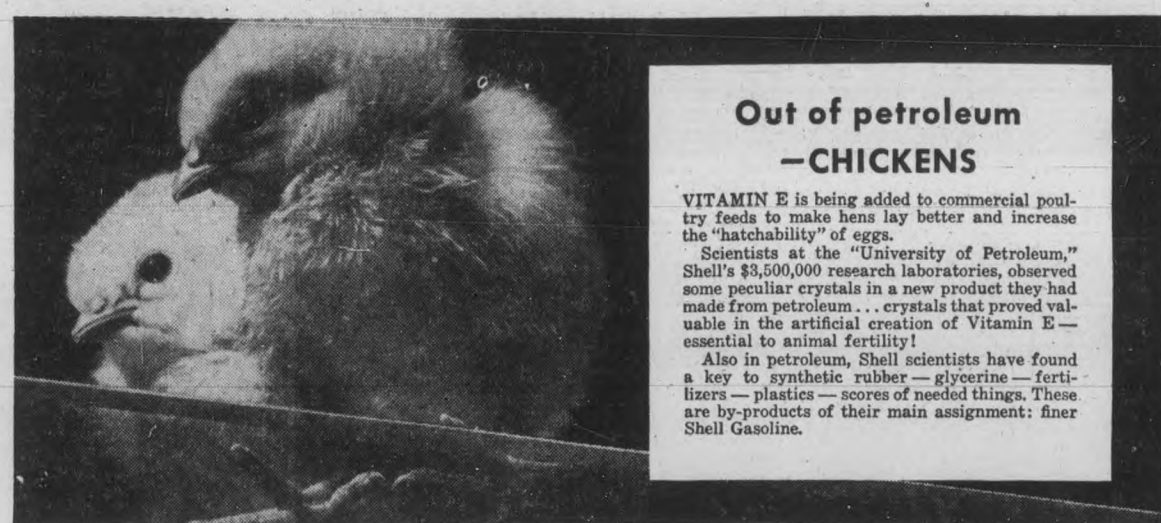

Large department stores in eastern Canada have taken up the idea of encouraging American tourists to buy British-made goods while visiting Canada. Mr. Smith said, and local merchants might also play a bigger part in helping Britain by organizing a similar campaign here.

Mr. Smith said his movement has been recognized by Britain as a means of help of importance. He quoted the following broadcast words of Rt. Hon. Oliver Lyttleton, president of the Board of Trade:

"When, as I know you have, you put up the motto 'Buy Something British' in your shop window, I don't want you to imagine that you are filling the pockets of British merchants. You are putting into the sky an airplane, and we will man it with the best we have."

Out of petroleum — CHICKENS

VITAMIN E is being added to commercial poultry feeds to make hens lay better and increase the "hatchability" of eggs.

Scientists at the "University of Petroleum," Shell's $3,500,000 research laboratories, observed some peculiar crystals in a new product they had made from petroleum. . . crystals that proved valuable in the artificial creation of Vitamin E — essential to animal fertility!

Also in petroleum, Shell scientists have found a key to synthetic rubber — glycerine — fertilizers — plastics — scores of needed things. These are by-products of their main assignment: finer Shell Gasoline.

Sidney Pledges Loan Success

A large number of Sidney residents, joined by farmer neighbors of North Saanich, gathered at Memorial Park Saturday afternoon to unfurl their Victoria Loan pledge flag. Groups of men from the navy, army and air force attended, and the band of the Royal Canadian Air Force was in attendance.

Rev. T. R. Lancaster, chaplain of the North Saanich branch of the Canadian Legion, dedicated the flag, which was broken out on its standard by Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., who commanded the guard of honor composed of 1914-18 war veterans, who led in cheers for Prime Minister Churchill and the armed forces of the British Empire.

Men of the forces gave displays. Ceremonial arms were displayed by 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish and the R.C.A.F.; there was a march past of all units, joined by the Canadian Legion members, the Women's Service Corps, the Girl Guides and North Saanich High School cadets.

Sandham Graves was the principal speaker. He said the need of Canada was for unity, purpose and drive. Purpose of Canada was clear—to win the war, he said. Courage, alone, was not enough. Those who fought for freedom must be given the tools. There drive was needed and the Victory Loan was part of that drive.

F. J. Baker, chairman of the North Saanich unit of the Victory Loan campaign committee, presided. Major G. S. Yardley, organizer for all Saanich and the Gulf Islands, spoke briefly. Lt. Commander R. P. Kingscote commanded the sailors, Major Alex McLennan was in charge of the soldiers and Flying Officer McNeill commanded the air force squadron.
